Armistice Day Ends Week Of Happenings Boding Ill For Axis

Interpretation By
Kirke L. Simpson
(Wide World War Analyst)

The Armistice Day anniversary this year fell at the end of a week filled with portentous happenings boding ill for Germany and Japan alike.

The covenant made by the Allies so long ago with the dead of the other world war was being kept; it was being redeemed in blood on the battle fields of Europe and Asia, and in the solemn international pledges in the making between the United Nations, fellowship that it shall not happen again.

To that end the progress of fighting men of the fellowship on both sides of the world, was etched on the war maps too clearly to doubt the final result battles, as the fighting may yet be to break the power and will of aggressor foes to prolong their resistance.

To that end, the opening early meeting of the big three leaders on terms which Germany has been brought to buy within her own frontiers was impending. And when they meet again Churchill, Stalin and Roosevelt will talk more of ways to cement the victory peace than of war strategy.

During the week the American scene was cleared of the uncertainties attendant upon a wartime presidential election. War Allies were assured there will be no change either in American purposes of war and peace

1948 PRESIDENT'S RACE CONSIDERED

Dewey Believed High On List Of Republican Probabilities

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—(AP)—With more election boards still counting 1944 votes professional politicians already have begun sizing up potential timber for 1948.

Leaving aside the assortment of Republicans who might be found up for the presidential nomination four years hence now:

Thomas E. Dewey, of course is high on the list. He has two years to run as governor of New York.

Political analysts thought they detected a hint that Dewey was headed for the future when he let it be known in New York yesterday that he was pleased with the degree of acceptance of his foreign policy views by party leaders in and out of Congress.

While the 1944 loser is the presidential race had no need to look far afield also at 1948. Washington figured he probably would run for governor again in 1946.

He said after Tuesday's election that he was very happy over the strong confidence the people have expressed in the state government by the voters.

BRITISH HALTED AT RAVALDINO CANAL

ROME, Nov. 11.—(AP)—British Eighth army troops making slowly forward from captured Forli in the eastern Po valley were halted before powerful the city at the Ravaldino canal which they found the German tanks and infantry defending in considerable strength.

The canal runs from the northwest corner of Forli in a northeasterly direction. Southwest of Forli the Germans have taken up positions along the Montone river.

Snow flurries fell on both the Fifth and Eighth army fronts varying from a light coating in some sectors to a depth of nine inches on the right flank in the hills. There has been snow on the higher peaks for several weeks, but now on the Eighth army front heavy drifts were beginning to interrupt communications.

The Germans evacuated Castrocaro, about five miles southwest of Forli on highway 67 but they were still holding strongly in the hills to the west. The desert air force was called in to attack German positions along the Montone and delivered an assault described as very successful.

On the coastal sector positions on highway 16 were unchanged. The Germans were still holding Cecolina on the Ronco river farther inland in strength. The Germans also were defending Gambellara strongly in this area, and extensive minefields were making progress difficult for Eighth army armor.

On the Fifth army front below Bologna there was little but aggressive patrolling and harassing German artillery fire, a 2,300-foot peak east of the Faenza road.

JAWS LESS THAN 10 MILES APART

Arc Of Steel Steadily Enveloping German-Held Town

U. S. THIRD ARMY MAKES ADVANCE OF FIVE MILES

By Austin Bealmear

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Paris, Nov. 11.—(AP)—American infantry and armor drew the arc of steel threatening to envelop Metz, one of Europe's mightiest bastions, to fully two-thirds of the way around the Nazi-held French fortress today, with less than ten miles separating the two flanking forces.

The United States Third army smashed ahead five miles, crossing rivers, rail lines and highways, to tighten the noose around Metz. Lt. Gen. George S. Patton Jr., who celebrated his 59th birthday and Armistice day with the most sweeping advances of his new winter offensive, has sent elements of at least eight divisions into the line since the drive started four days ago.

Hinges of two assaults swinging around from both sides were driven to within five miles of the citadel due north and within four and one-half miles on the opposite side. The forces on the southern hinge southeast of Metz—including all or part of six divisions—continued to smash recklessly ahead, swinging left to the east and increasing the threat of complete encirclement of Metz.

American fighter bombers flew 720 sorties despite varying weather. At one point they caught more than 25 German tanks moving toward the American lines and reported the destruction of 10 and the damaging of 15.

At the same time the Fourth armored division pushed on three miles northeast along a road route from captured Delme fortress to the area of Conthil, only four miles from the Benestroff rail junction and nine miles northeast of Chateau-Salins.

The doughboys were engaging the German 10th and 11th Panzer grenadier regiments in the area of Gelucourt on the eastern edge of Chateau-Salins.

OPEN WEDGE IN BUDAPEST LINE

Russians Resume Powerful Drive Southeast Of Besieged Capital

LONDON, Sunday, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Russian troops resuming a powerful drive southeast of besieged Budapest yesterday moved to within 43 miles of the capital and also struck to within 31 miles of Mezkole, Hungary's fifth city in the northeast, as they steadily expanded their wedge between the German defenders of the two prize cities, Moscow announced tonight.

Soviet columns hitting from the Theiss captured Uyszasz, Red Army capture of the southern arm of the iron between Budapest and fallen Szolnok. Uyszasz is 43 miles from the capital whose southern outskirts still are being fiercely defended by reinforced German troops.

Jaszkarajeno, 46 miles due east of Budapest and seven miles northeast of Uyszasz also was seized the Soviet communique said. Its capture put Russians only 12 miles of a junction with another column which had taken Puspokladany to the northeast Friday after crossing the middle Tisza river.

Berlin's radio commentators termed this Soviet drive the most menacing

SLAYING SUSPECT CONFESSES THEFTS

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Sheriff Lowell Flournoy said tonight that Steven Josef Vernon, 33, arrested here for an indictment charging murder in Los Angeles, Calif., has admitted a series of petty thefts in north Louisiana.

Flournoy said that Vernon has admitted taking several hypodermic needles from the office of a dentist at Plain Dealing, La. When arrested several days ago Vernon said he used the hypodermics to give drugs to snakes which he managed for a carnival at Oil City, La. Later he admitted that he operated a bowling alley with the carnival and had nothing to do with snakes.

Sheriff Flournoy said tonight that medical examination showed that Vernon did not use the hypodermics himself.

Cecilia Dore, 22 of Deerlodge, Mont., Vernon's companion, told Sheriff Flournoy that Vernon twice attempted to drug her.

GERMAN TARGETS POORLY DEFENDED

2,000 U. S. Planes Meet Meager To Moderate Resistance

LONDON, Nov. 11.—(AP)—German antiaircraft gunners offered only meager to moderate resistance today when 2,000 American planes attacked the Reich in bad weather from west and southwest hitting poorly defended targets in Italy, Austria and western Germany.

Lt. Gen. Carl A. Spaatz' United States strategic air forces coordinated strikes with the Fifteenth air force in Italy sending out 700 heavy bombers, which hit synthetic oil plants in Czechoslovakia, a steel plant at Linz, Austria, and bridges in northern Italy. The Liberators and Fortresses from Italy were escorted by 450 fighters.

Suggesting the R. A. F. was on its way back to Germany tonight Berlin radio warned of the approach of enemy bomber formations over Heligoland bay approaching northwestern Germany.

German antiaircraft batteries must have been saving their ammunition today, a spokesman said after Eighth air force planes attacked a synthetic oil plant in the Ruhr and railway yards at Coblenz, to the south.

"They have quit throwing much flak when we attack through heavy clouds," the spokesman said. "Apparently they are saving shells just the same as they are saving gasoline and other supplies."

Only one German plane offered attack when the 450 Liberators and Fortresses with an escort of 310 Mustangs and Thunderbolts, crossed the channel and sailed across France above a fleecy white blanket of clouds. A jet-propelled Messerschmitt 163 was driven off after making one feeble pass at the American armada.

Four bombers and one fighter failed to return.

A long reaction train west of Amersfoort on its way to Nazi troops in Holland was blown to smithereens by R. A. F. Typhoons. The Typhoons

INFANT FLOWN TO ST. LOUIS BETTER

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Doris Elaine Richards, the Shreveport baby flown by a Barksdale Field bomber to a St. Louis brain specialist Thursday afternoon, will probably celebrate her first birthday next Tuesday by being well on the road to recovery.

Doctor according to information received by relatives here today is now conscious and it is expected she will recover without an operation.

The doctors has not learned of any official diagnosis of her illness. Her mother, Mrs. Ruth Richards, and her grandmother, Mrs. Kelly Gray, both of Shreveport, will remain with her at St. Louis Children's Hospital.

Her father, Woodrow Wilson Richards, who has never seen her and has been overseas in New Guinea for 13 months, has not yet learned of his baby's illness.

MAJOR BONG DOWNS 36TH ENEMY PLANE

AT A LEYTE AIR BASE, Philippines, Sunday, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Major Richard I. Bong, of Poplar, Wis., American ace of aces ran his string to 36 today, downing two more Japanese planes in the skies above Ormoc.

He said the enemy fighters encountered were among the best he has met in the war.

PHANTOM FEMININE FIGHTER IS ALBINO

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11.—(AP)—The myth of the "lone Jap WAC from Wewak" has been exploded, says an Aneta, Dutch news agency, dispatch from New Guinea, and the truth which shattered it is almost as incredible as the myth itself.

Stories have been drifting in and out of Allied headquarters in New Guinea of a phantom Japanese woman soldier in the jungles. She was the leader of a sizeable group of isolated Japanese being hunted out by native patrols, said one story. She tossed hand grenades with a vigor and accuracy that surpassed the skill of men in her group, was another.

Through close questioning of Papuan natives of the jungle area, however, patrols established that the phantom figure is one of the rarest of all persons—an Albino Papuan woman who has cast her lot with the Japanese.

DELVER D. BOLIN FATALLY INJURED

Suffers Injuries When Wrecker Truck Hits Telephone Pole

Injured when a truck in which he was riding left the highway and crashed into a telegraph pole one mile west of Rayville, Delver D. (Doc) Bolin, 48, West Monroe, died yesterday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock in a local hospital.

Bolin, garage foreman for F. Strauss and Sons and in charge of the maintenance of the wholesale firm's truck fleet, was en route to Delhi with the company wrecker to bring in another Strauss truck which had been involved in a minor accident when his own machine crashed.

A Strauss official last night said the truck in which Bolin was traveling with Bill Hays had completely crossed the highway to the left, jumped a ditch, and crashed into the pole which drove through the truck's cab and struck Bolin. The accident occurred

B-29S BOMB JAP AIRCRAFT CENTER

Hit Transportation And Storage Facilities In China

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Using instruments to locate their targets through clouds, B-29s today bombed a Japanese homeland aircraft manufacturing center and transportation and storage facilities in two enemy-held Chinese cities.

One Superfortress was reported in a communique to be missing. At least two enemy planes were shot down, seven others probably destroyed and eleven damaged.

The communique said a large task force of Superfortresses, operating from bases in China, participated in the three-pronged aerial blow. The target were:

The Omura Aircraft Factory at Omura, on the Japanese home island of Kyushu.

The extensive dock and loading facilities at Nanking, a ferry point for rail traffic between Shanghai, Tientsin and Manchuria. Nanking also is the seat of the Japanese-controlled puppet government in China.

Enemy military storage and transshipment facilities at the great port of Shanghai.

The 12th air force communique said these were "targets of vital importance to the Japanese war machine."

The air force reported that "overcast skies caused a diversion of the effort," but did not make clear the originally intended target. Either on the day, a 20th air force announcement reported only an attack on Nanking. This led some officials here to believe that Nanking was the original target. It was possible, however, that one of the most distant of the three targets may have been first choice and that because of the overcast there a part of the mission shifted to the mainland cities.

China is about 1,900 miles from the China bases. Nanking and Shanghai are about 1,600.

The attack on the Omura aircraft plant, hit previously on October 25, was accomplished through obscured precision instruments, the communique said.

Instruments also were used in the attack on Nanking. Because of the clouds, results at both targets could

ARMISTICE DAY ANNIVERSARY UNHERALDED ON WAR FRONT

By Associated Press

There was no armistice along the battlefronts of the world yesterday as the 26th anniversary of the ending of the first World War passed unheralded for the millions of men fighting and dying in World War II.

Back of the battle lines in Belgium, Holland and France civilians knelt in churches and in the open streets just at 11 a. m., in brief memory of those who died in the other war and in this one.

But at the front there was no time even for this.

In recently liberated Paris Prime Minister Churchill placed a wreath on the tomb of the unknown soldier of 26 years ago and along with French leader Gen. Charles de Gaulle reviewed American, British and French soldiers of this war.

Yanks of the U. S. First army in Germany held no official observance of the day, but went about their grim business of smashing the German army. In some Belgian towns civilians observed the day by voicing their thanks to the Americans for their liberation.

All along the First army front guns sounded their dull thunder under cold leaden skies; doughboys splashed through ankle-deep mire and vehicles ground through the mire.

Up in the foxholes at the front troops living in the cold and mud had no surcease from battle.

At Romagne France memorial services were held for 14,000 American dead buried in the Meuse-Argonne cemetery for the first time since 1939 and Brig. Gen. Charles R. Doran warned that "We cannot deceive ourselves into believing that complete victory will be quick and easy."

In Rome Americans, British and French troops were reviewed by Allied leaders and at the Vatican high religious services were held for the dead of the last war.

Allied armies in northern Holland went about their fighting and Cpl. Ben Joseph of Akron, Ohio, summed

FRANCE TO SIT AT PEACE TABLE

Will Have Full Voice In Imposing Justice On Germany

OCCUPATION AND CONTROL OF GERMANY IS PLANNED

By John M. Hightower

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Nazi-trolden France will have a full voice in imposing justice upon a defeated Germany.

Even those points on which the "big three" already had decided, apparently are reopened to incorporate French ideas.

Germany may be split four ways instead of three for occupation purposes.

Those appeared tonight to be the main prospects raised by announcement that France has been invited to sit with the United States, Great Britain and Russia on the European advisory commission.

The main work of the commission is planning the occupation and control of Germany. Considerable progress recently has been made on these problems but none of the work has embraced French ideas. That is because the French have refused to give their counsel unless they could share in the decisions and responsibilities.

The announcement today, following Allied recognition October 23 of the administration of Gen. Charles de Gaulle as the provisional government of France marked the end of exclusive "big three" domination in Europe.

Assuming France's acceptance of the invitation and with China counted in, it marks the beginning of a "five power" era for the erection of world peace machinery. In preparation for this, the United States, Britain, Russia and China agreed at Dumbarton Oaks that "in due course" France should be counted as one of the powerful permanent five members of the proposed world security council.

Presumably today's action means that the qualification "in due course" has been met and that France will go

MUSICAL REVUE TO START DRIVE

'At Your Service' To Be Given At Neville Auditorium, November 22

Urging the citizens of Monroe and West Monroe to buy all the war bonds they can during the Sixth War Loan drive, Camp Claiborne will present the musical revue, "At Your Service" Wednesday, November 22 at 8 p. m. in Neville High School auditorium, according to S. J. Rogers, Ouachita parish fund drive chairman.

The show has been produced at the request of the Louisiana State War Finance committee and will make a three-week tour of 30 cities, beginning November 20. "Footlight Commandos" and "Private Affairs," Claiborne shows presented for the Fourth and Fifth War Loan drives, respectively, were so successful that the itinerary for the new show has been greatly enlarged.

"At Your Service" is an hour of fast, lively entertainment. The show will feature individuals, groups and special arrangements.

Director of the production is S. Sgt. Stan Daugherty, who will take the spotlight himself with thrilling renditions on the piano.

Commedians is Cpl. Isadore Tamarkin. Art Gosling and saxophonist of the days is Claiborne's Pfc. Ralph McMurrin. Baritone solos will be sung by T/4 Dewey Driver.

A four-part quartet composed of T/4 Mahlon Hamilton, Pfc. Joe Cascio, Pfc. Bob Davis, Pfc. James Bennett

MRS. SAVAGE GETS $5,000 JUDGMENT

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Federal Judge Ben C. Dawkins in an opinion here held that the United States was not at war with Japan on December 7, 1941, and gave judgment of $5,000 to a woman whose son was killed at Pearl Harbor.

Mrs. Thetis Darby Savage of Monroe, La., in her petition claimed that she was entitled to double indemnity on a $2,500 policy carried by her son, Ens. Walter Samuel Savage, Jr., who was killed in the Japanese surprise attack.

The company admitted its liability for payment of the face of the policy but claimed that the bombing of Pearl Harbor was an act of war and that the double indemnity feature was not effective under a specific exemption in the policy.

Planes Blast Ships Carrying 8,000 Men

Entire Enemy Convoy Destroyed; Enemy Loses 13 Destroyers, Seven Transports And Thousands Of Men In Three Days

By Murlin Spencer

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippine Island, Sunday, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Carrier planes of the U. S. Third fleet destroyed an entire Japanese convoy of four transports and six destroyers in Ormoc bay today, smashing the second Nipponese attempt in three days to reinforce their Leyte Island army.

Only remnants of an estimated 8,000 fresh enemy troops reached shore, after a slashing dawn battle.

(Reporting the same action from Pearl Harbor, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz disclosed that the attacking navy Hellcats, Avengers and dive-bombers shot down 13 Nipponese planes covering the ships and perhaps bagged five more.)

(A two-engined enemy reconnaissance plane and a dive-bomber were shot down near the three fleet carriers. Seven navy planes were lost but most of the pilots and crewmen were believed to have been rescued.)

The Japanese lost 13 destroyers and seven transports, plus thousands of men, in their attempts today and last Thursday and Friday to land reinforcements.

Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, the new Japanese commander, has "chosen western Leyte as a main battleground for his supreme effort to crush our liberating forces," Gen. Douglas MacArthur said in today's communique.

He said Japan's conqueror of Malaya is attempting to land sufficient forces to break out of the "Yamashita line," the American-encircled area around Ormoc, last Japanese stronghold on Leyte.

American ground forces made new gains across the rugged terrain south of Carigara bay, as the Yank airmen smashed the latest reinforcement effort some 20 miles southward.

The naval airmen, attacking in force, caught the Japanese convoy as it slipped into Ormoc bay under cover of early morning darkness.

(Leif Erickson, Associated Press war correspondent at Pearl Harbor said "the report of the convoy destruction discloses that Third fleet carrier forces again have undertaken direct support of MacArthur's ground operations on Leyte.

(Opposed by the Third fleet plane power, the Japanese attempts to throw more troops into the defense of Leyte should become increasingly difficult.")

Yesterday's account of the Thursday-Friday attacks on the earlier convoy underlined the fact that MacArthur's land-based air arm still is somewhat limited on Leyte. He had to call on bombers from rear bases to help in the assault.

It was Third and Seventh fleet airplanes which covered MacArthur in the landings on Leyte October 20 and later dealt some of the big blows which crushed the Japanese fleet in the second naval battle of the Philippines sea.

Nimitz's report of the convoy attack listed the same number of ships but transports—six destroyers—but whereas MacArthur said all were sunk, Nimitz said the four transports and three destroyers were "seen to sink," the two destroyers were "thought to have sunk," and the sixth was listed as damaged.

Elements of the First cavalry division, fighting over rough terrain, were reported eight miles south of Carigara, while the 24th division was maintaining pressure against stubbornly resisting Japanese on the Ormoc road.

While the Japanese convoy was being sunk, other planes attacked Japanese shipping in the Visayan area. Final reports, however, have not been received.

Nimitz's navy fighter planes and fast convoy installations in the Leyte area, shooting down 13 Japanese aircraft with "only minor loss," the communique said.

The new Japanese commander in chief, Lieut. General Yamashita, is attempting to build up a powerful land defense in the Ormoc area, the communique said.

It is the evident purpose to assemble

36 KILLED, HURT BY NEW V-2 BOMB

Germans Claim 600 Houses In London Damaged By One Rocket

LONDON, Nov. 11.—(AP)—At least 36 persons have been killed and badly injured by the bombardment of Britain by the German rocket bomb V-2 a check of casualties in reported incidents showed today. The German communique declared that the "fire of our reprisal weapons on London and Antwerp continued."

The casualty figure for the "flying telegraph pole" rocket, which drops from a height of some 70 miles at perhaps 1,000 miles an hour, outstripping sound, is an unofficial and incomplete tally. Reports of some incidents did not include fatalities caused.

In one case a rocket plummeted into a shopping crowd and "a number" of persons were killed. One of the most tragic incidents was the killing of nine children at a birthday party.

One rocket exploded in an open area, and several ducks were the only victims. Still another rocket struck a deep crater in the open and killed only a pig.

Metropolitan London had an alert during the night as a new flurry of robot bombs came in from the North sea. Their explosions killed at least seven persons and injured others including two American army officers. Antiaircraft guns and fighters knocked down a number of robots on the channel coast.

The German radio continued its propaganda campaign on the effectiveness of V-2 saying that one rocket damaged or destroyed 600 houses in London.

The Nazi home front was told that the new weapon "exceeded all imagination" and surpassed the greatest phantasy of the future.

"Employment of V-weapons has just begun," German propagandists said, adding that the bombardment of London will increase.

Claims were made regarding the effectiveness unsupported reports

MAN WOUNDED IN GERMANY RETURNS

TEMPLE, Tex., Nov. 11.—(AP)—The first battle casualty wounded in Germany to arrive at McCloskey General hospital came today. He is Pvt. Robert F. Arnold of Mc Comb, Miss.

A 20-year-old infantryman, father of three children, Arnold was inducted into the army in January of this year and on September 13 lost his leg during the Third army's penetration of the Siegfried line from Belgium.

"While I lay there waiting for help, I was approached by a young Belgian girl.

"She pulled me from the road and half-carried and half-dragged me to her home some distance away. I will never forget that little girl. She undoubtedly saved my life. Couldn't have been more than 17, but by gosh she got me out of danger. She washed me up and applied salve to my wounds and bandaged them. Then she made hot tea and coffee.

"The boys told me she had saved others, too. I've got her picture and I'm going to have it enlarged and put in the front room at home."

ORLEANS BOY KILLED

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Henry Rohlfing Jr., 15, was accidentally shot and killed today when a shotgun with which he and two playmates were playing, accidentally discharged. State police said the youth received the full charge from a 16 gauge shotgun in the chest.

2 SOLDIERS HURT IN 3-WAY MISHAP

Two soldiers were reported hurt here today as the result of a three-way traffic accident involving an army truck and automobile driven by a [illegible] and automobile operated by [illegible] according to Monroe police who investigated the accident.

Sgt. W. C. Bevan, 622 Rochelle avenue, stationed at Selman Field, and Pvt. Ross Hall, Selman Field, were said to have been taken to the post hospital on the field here. Witnesses to the accident said Bevan was complaining that his stomach hurt, and Hall received a facial injury. Bevan and Hall were traveling together in the car. The army truck involved was operated by Pvt. Wadell Coleman, Selman Field, and the civilian in the mixup was B. Pomboeuf.

Pomboeuf told police he was going east on DeSiard in the 3500 block and when he put on his brakes to pull into a service station his brakes locked, causing him to swerve into an automobile driven by Sergeant Bevan and headed west. The army truck was said to have been following along behind the Pomboeuf machine and to have run into it.

PATE WILL HEAD DELTA'S GROUP

Atlanta Man Is Named Air Cargo Chief Officer

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 11.—(Special)—Delta Air Lines announced today appointment of Paul W. Pate of 1128 St. Louis place, N. E., Atlanta, as superintendant of a newly created air cargo department.

Pate joined Delta's planning and research department in 1943 after seven years' experience in the field of motor transportation in Atlanta, Charlotte, Burlington, N. C., and Kingsport, Tenn. A native of Savannah, he also served in the rate department of the Southern Motor Carriers Rate Conference, Atlanta.

C. E. Woolman, vice-president and general manager of Delta, in announcing Pate's appointment, said the new air cargo department would handle all phases of air express and air freight for the company.

"While passengers presently account for the bulk of our business, we expect air cargo to be a major department in the future," Woolman said.

Before coming with Delta, Pate served 20 months in the army air corps' handling troop and freight movements at Maxwell Field and Courtland, Ala., air base.

He is a member of the tariff subcommittee of the Air Transport Association air express committee.

Parish Game And Fish Commission Authorizes Removal Of Rough Fish

The Ouachita Parish Game and Fish Commission has granted Albert Bayles the right to seine for rough fish in Bayou DeSiard and Horseshoe Lake for the period from November 13, 1944 to January 13, 1945.

This action was taken upon the recommendation of the Louisiana Conservation Department which stated that the removal and control of rough fish such as catfish, buffalo and gar should be made at stated intervals in order to prevent destruction of game by an over abundance of rough fish.

The Louisiana Conservation Department is also sending two fish rescue trucks to Ouachita Parish to be used under the supervision of the Parish Game and Fish Commission in the work of rescuing game fish from bar pits and other streams that ordinarily dry up, destroying these fish.

The trucks will be used to remove game fish from such waters, placing fish so rescued in streams, under the control of the Parish Game and Fish Commission, that are available to the local fishermen for the taking of such fish by means of line and artifical bait.

Similar rescue work was conducted by the commission in 1942 and resulted in the saving of approximately one-fourth of a million game fish that were placed in fishing streams and many were placed in Bayou DeSiard. Last year water and weather conditions prevented this rescue work to be done.

LT. GARRETT SHOWS HE'S STILL ABLE

SOMEWHERE IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC — (Special) — Army doctors, like those in civil life, heavily discount patients' testimony in regard their physical condition. After a brief illness, Lt. David I. Garrett insisted that he was as good as new and should be back with the reconnaissance troop of the 31st infantry division.

The doctors disagreed with him and held that he was not as strong as he thought. Lying on his cot in the seashore hospital, the young officer noticed that a man in the ocean was at the point of drowning. He sprang from his cot, sprinted across the beach and rapidly swam to the aid of the man in difficulty. After a tussle, the lieutenant pulled him into shore. The medical officer soon pronounced the rescued man, a patient, safe, and the rescuer in sound health and able to return to his outfit.

Lieutenant Garrett is the son of Judge David I. Garrett of the Fourth division court of Louisiana, who lives in Monroe, La.

SEES NO REASON FOR CIGARETTE SHORTAGE

WASHINGTON Nov 11 —(AP)— There is no good reason for an acute cigarette shortage at this time, says Thomas I. Emerson, enforcement chief of the Office of Price Administration.

Emerson attributes the present cigarette shortage to two possible causes. An increase in smoking and hoarding by the public.

While production of cigarettes this year for domestic consumption is less than in 1943, it is greater than in 1941, he says.

Expressing concern over what he termed a "growing black market in cigarettes," Emerson said that OPA field officers have been instructed to take immediate action to meet the situation.

Without naming specific areas, Emerson claimed that in some cities "racketeer-type practices" in the sale of cigarettes have been appearing. He said the flow of cigarettes into regular trade channels has been diminishing, and in some places sales are now on a bootleg basis.

W. E. Fitzgerald, OPA chief for the Detroit district, yesterday warned wholesalers and jobbers there to "clean up the situation," adding that "there is no reason why any person should have to stand in line for two blocks to get a pack of cigarettes."

Fitzgerald directed dealers to deliver 40 per cent of each retailer's June, 1943, purchases, or "the OPA will move right into your offices and examine your books."

OPA officials said the cigarette situation has not yet reached serious proportions but "we are very much concerned that it may."

Brazil has about 22 per cent of the world's estimated iron reserves.

Bringing into production more t[han] five million acres of potential a[gri]cultural land now unsuitable for a[gri]tural products because of poor dra[in]age in areas between the Ouach[ita] and Mississippi rivers, is the num[ber] one post-war proolem of northe[ast] Louisiana, according to T. H. Sc[ott] chairman of Chamber of Comm[erce] agricultural committee. The rech[an]neling of the major streams as reco[m]mended by the national rivers [and] harbors board is only the first step bringing into agricultural products the poorly drained section of this a[rea] Mr. Scott said.

The ultilization of this vast sys[tem] will also be necessary after streams have been rechanneled, if [the] land is to produce profit from cr[ops] "It will probably be impossible this system of lateral development be provided, using local engineer[ing] skill and local sources of taxati[on] Mr. Scott stated.

This undertaking will be a which will cover six southeast [Ar]kansas counties and 11 northeast L[ou]isiana parishes and is interstate scope. Of particular interest at time is a bill in Congress to authorize the Bureau of Reclamation to eng[age] in draining work.

To discuss this bill by Congressm[an] White of Idaho, to give permission the Bureau of Reclamation to do w[ork] in Louisiana, the Chamber agric[ul]tural committee will meet in the [of]fice November 14 at 2:30, Mr. Sc[ott] stated.

2—Energize your body with RICH, RED BLOOD!

Improper diet, overwork, undue wo[rry] ries, colds, the flu or other illne[ss] often impairs the stomach's dige[s]tive functions and reduces the re[d] blood strength.

A person who is operating on only 70 to 75% healthy blood volume or stomach digestive capacity of only to 60%, normal is severely handicapped.

At such times Nature needs extra he[lp] to restore its balance and function pro[p]erly. Undigested food places a tax o[n] the system. Insufficient blood streng[th] is a detriment to good health.

Peace And Politics

The discussion of American membership in the United Nations security organization has been showing symptoms of becoming hotly political, despite both major parties' official policy of keeping it non-partisan. Perhaps these symptoms were induced by the recent campaign, and will subside now that it is over. But they revealed some odd assumptions and conclusions which probably still exist, and which could frustrate our efforts toward world peace.

The most prevalent of these seems to be that membership in the United Nations would give the president of the United States sole power to declare war. It is doubtful that those who made the charge looked very far into the future, but their assumption obviously would apply to any president of any party, good or bad, now or later.

The assumption ignores the proposed 11-member United Nations security council and seems to consider that this "declaration of war" would be a president's private affair. And, with all its talk about "rushing our troops into battle," it also ignores the possibility that the United Nations might first try to solve a menace to world peace by means short of war.

But the recommendations of the Dumbarton Oaks conferences specifically suggest that the security council, having determined that a threat to peace exists, "should be empowered to determine what diplomatic, economic, or other measures not involving the use of armed force" should be used to bring about a settlement.

The Dumbarton Oaks suggestions are not final. This has been repeatedly stressed. There will be discussion and decision among prospective member nations before the United Nations come into being. In this country that means discussion and final decision by the Senate. And that decision will surely include in its conditions of our membership a stipulation of how our member of the security council shall be appointed, and what powers he shall have.

Under the two-thirds vote, it is extremely unlikely that a president could force any Senate to give him a free hand in appointing and advising our security council member. The Senate guards its treaty-ratifying power too zealously for that. The greatest likelihood of such a free hand would seem to be in a situation where a president might dictate the council member's course through a highly cooperative Senate.

Incidentally, Senator Tom Connally of Texas provided an interesting footnote recently to this frightening subject of a president's "war-making" powers. During a Senate debate the scholarly Texan recited some of the instances where a president has sent our troops or ships to foreign soil without declaration of war or the advice and consent of the Senate.

The list is too long to repeat here, but it includes more than 50 "incidents" covering a period of 113 years. These forces were dispatched for reasons of security, protection or retaliation by almost all of our presidents, weak and strong, from James Monroe to Calvin Coolidge.

These were precipitate actions, but history does not show that the presidents were called despots or dictators.

JAPANESE WORRY

Japanese officialdom has had plenty to worry about of late. Regardless of such success as the Japanese are having on the Chinese mainland, their navy has suffered terrific reverses in encounters with American fleets, General MacArthur is back in the Philippines, and his troops are closing in to cut off Japanese escape from Leyte. Huge damage has been done to Japanese shipping at Manila.

India-based B-29s have blasted away at Singapore, suggesting Allied amphibious landings soon in southeast Asia. American scouting planes have again been over Tokyo and Yokohama. To cap the climax, Premier Stalin, whose Soviet Russia has hitherto been neutral in the war so far as Japan is concerned, in an address to the Russian people on the 27th anniversary of the Communist revolution, characterized Japan as "an aggressor nation."

These are strong words coming from even a nominal friendly nation with which untrammeled diplomatic relations are maintained. Japan may well ask herself what they mean. Tokyo hitherto has had reason to feel that the Russians, not so long ago facing defeat by the Germans, would not risk a major war on an eastern as well as a western front.

But the point is not to be lost sight of that Stalin, whose utterance caused surprise and speculation in both London and Washington, did not give vent to it until, in the same speech, he felt able to say he believed the end was near for Berlin. And when he pleaded for "complete disarmament for the aggressor nations," among which he had named just two, Germany and Japan, it was with the inference Russia would have a hand in that disarmament.

Russia has a long score to settle with Japan, dating back to czarist days and the Russian-Japanese war of 1904-5, which she may have quit too early in order to make the treaty of Portsmouth. Irritation was vastly increased by Japanese occupation of Manchuria in 1931.

It is certain Russia will not get into the war against Japan until and unless she is satisfied she can do so effectually. Her part at the outset might consist of giving Siberian bases to her present Allies against Germany. At all events, the prospective conference, if there is one, of Stalin, Churchill and Roosevelt takes on from this time a much more ominous significance to the Japanese.

Japs who have been ordered to start a thought drive in the interest of final victory will probably wind up repeating: "Every day, in every way, the Americans are getting closer and closer."

Admiral Nimitz and General MacArthur seem to be operating on the theory that it makes little difference whether Russia helps whip Japan or not.

Jimmie Fidler
IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 11.—I have followed with keen interest, the quarrel between P. S. "Pete" Harrison, publisher of "Harrison's Reports" (a reliable trade publication) and The Screen Directors Guild.

In a series of effective articles, Harrison accused the directors of "wanton waste" in production. He made such statements as "25 retakes of one scene when three or four were sufficient" and "directors keep on shooting scene over and over because raw stock is, in their opinion, cheap" and "the director wants to dazzle the industry . . . impress the studio head that he is a hard worker."

The Screen Directors' Guild has called Harrison, in so many words, a liar. The president of the guild, Director John Cromwell, attacked the statements of the film paper editor so viciously as to make a reader believe (if he did not know better) that Harrison knew nothing at all about his subject.

Let me intrude my two cents' worth by saying that while Harrison's arguments and citations should not include ALL directors, the hat certainly fits in many cases. The studios are constantly guilty of wanton waste, not only among the directors but among other branches of this creative art such as actors who won't study their dialogue and writers who play too many "night dates" and consequently prepare their scripts with foggy brains.

If Harrison wants proof of waste (which the Screen Directors' Guild asks him to produce), let him come to me and I'll fill his publication for a year. Furthermore, I think he is on the right track. I've long said that elimination of studio waste would work to the benefit of theater owners, who might be able to make a more decent profit if they could buy their pictures at prices computed on efficiency in production.

20th Century-Fox's "Laura" is one of the best pictures I've seen this year and unless I'm a punk prophet, it is going to make Gene Tierney, who plays the feminine lead, a red hot box-office star. This being Hollywood, there is irony in that fact. "Laura" was the picture that precipitated the fight between 20th Century and Jennifer Jones. Miss Jones refused to play the role finally portrayed by Miss Tierney because she considered it beneath her standards. I wonder how many factual illustrations will be needed before actors and actresses learn that they are not infallible judges of the roles offered them. I could cite a hundred cases in which players have turned up their stellar noses at pictures which eventually proved to be smash hits.

Speaking of stars and their dealings with studios, I'm impressed by the number of top-notchers who are demanding complete authority over the productions in which they star, or, failing that, the right to independently produce at least one film a year. I'd like to call something to their attention. Such deals should be made without any loss of time. Big stars are at a premium right now because dozens of ranking box office favorites are in uniform. Once the war is over and the Jimmy Stewarts, Tyrone Powers, Mickey Rooneys and their peers return to civilian life, there is apt to be an oversupply of stars, rather than a scarcity. Studio bosses, when that day arrives, are going to be in a position to say "no" and make it stick.

Studio publicists pick the damnedest things to harp on in exploiting their pictures. I'm thinking just now of a campaign being waged by Universal in behalf of a little cinematic gem entitled "Swing Out, Sister." The press agents are calling your attention and mine to the earth-shaking, pulse-tingling, fever-inspiring fact that in this picture Arthur Treacher gets his first screen kiss! All of you who are now impressed will please stand on your heads.

I'm also amused by a publicity dispatch which arrived from Paramount this morning. It assures me that Veronica Lake is studying how to cook Hungarian food, because her intended spouse, Ande de Toth, is Hungarian. I hate to be a nasty old kill-joy, but the fact is that I just can't picture Veronica cooking anything, anymore than I can picture ninety-nine and nine-tenths of our glamour girls interesting themselves in a kitchen any longer than it takes for the photographer to snap their pictures. The man who wants to marry a good cook should look elsewhere than in the studio beauty brigade.

Hmmmm! Imagine casting Burgess Meredith as Ernie Pyle in "G. I. Joe" and forcing him to make up as if he were bald when we have so many stars who could qualify simply by removing their toupees!

BY HENRY McLEMORE

By Mrs. Henry McLemore

Dear Jeanie:

"A man shouldn't write his wife three letters in one day because she will begin to suspect he is fond of her and, woman-like, use it to wrap him around her little finger.

"I'm shoving off again early tomorrow though so I thought I'd get in as many letters to you as I could today. It may be a couple of weeks before you hear from me again.

"Please send me something oily to put on my hair. It's gotten so dry that it rustles when I sleep and wakes me up. It's a good thing I've lost as much of it as I have or I wouldn't get any rest at all. I tried using Tropical Butter on it (a form of non-rancifying lard they serve us out here) but it doesn't work. The butter rustles, too.

"For no reason that I can possibly think of I just burst into this particular song. 'I went to the Animal Fair and the Birds and Beasts were there the old baboon, by the light of the moon, was combing his auburn hair.' Remember the terrific arguments we used to get in about that song? You always maintained that it was the 'old racoon' and I still sang it 'old baboon.' I'm still sure I'm right. Only BABOONS comb their auburn hair by the light of the moon. Who ever heard of a RACOON doing such a thing?

"I'm enclosing a picture that will test your affection for me. It was taken when I didn't know it and although I must admit that I look as if I were committing hari-kari with that knife what I actually am doing is cutting out the heavy, binding, gas-preventing flaps that are attached to GI fatigues. The flaps make the uniform excessively warm.

"Think you must know how I felt about Michaud and Jim getting killed. There's a feeling you have about the guys who were in your squad and went through basic with you that sticks a long time.

"Quartermasters must be the same the world over. They're all under the impression that when you ask for something you're trying to pull a fast one on them. I had to have new clothing after my hike to Morotai but when I applied for it you could tell by the expression on the guy's face that he was sure I had thousands of dollars worth of clothing hidden somewhere and that all I was trying to do was to get a nice surplus so that I could start an Army & Navy store when I got home.

"A group of fellows got back a few days ago after having been home on leaves and furloughs. You'd think that they were the world's most gifted speakers the way the other fellows gather around to hear every word they have to say about how things were at home. The most common-place stories about what a man had to eat for breakfast or how his friends really put on a bang-up party for him are listened to time and again with the greatest of relish.

"Will you please airmail me some handkerchiefs. Just the cheapest variety will be all right. Maybe you could put a handkerchief in each one of your next dozen letters. They'll be mighty welcome.

"I'm scheduled to do some broadcasting soon. Will try to let you know just when so you can listen to the fine, rich, Southern drawl I have gone to such great trouble to acquire during my little sojourn down here.

"Give my best regards to all the nice people in town and to my friends.

"All my love,
"Henry."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Sunday School Lesson for Nov. 19
Text: Mark 12:13-17; Romans 13:8-10; I Peter 2:13-17
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

The first passage for study in this lesson is the famous one in which Jesus made reference to the things that are Caesar's and the things that are God's.

Palestine was under the power of Rome, and the enemies of Jesus tried to trap Him with the question whether it was lawful to pay tribute to Caesar, or not. If Jesus had said "No," His enemies would have reported Him to the Roman authorities; if He had said "Yes," they would have reported Him to the Jewish authorities. They thought they had trapped Him either way.

But with great skill Jesus parried their question and tripped them. When He called for a coin and asked, "Whose is this image and superscription?" they could only reply, "Caesar's."

"Render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's and to God the things that are God's" said Jesus.

The words have been very commonly taken out of their context, and misinterpreted in a way that Jesus could never have intended, to uphold the idea of obligation to the state, and to stress the idea of the separation between church and state. Jesus was meeting His enemies on their own ground, cleverly trapping them in their own game, but the notion that some things belong to Caesar, and some things to God, is contrary to all His teaching. His constant insistence was that all things belong to God, and any other teaching is both dangerous and untrue.

Here in America we have established the principle of the separation between church and state. It is a wise working principle in a democracy composed of diverse elements and of greatly varying faiths, and it works because it is established upon the prior principle of civil and religious liberty. But the recognition of God is basic in our American foundations. It is upon our coins, "In God We Trust" the president takes his oath of office with his hand upon the Bible, witnesses are sworn upon the Bible in our courts; our legislative assemblies are opened with prayer, and in many other ways the religious, but non-sectarian, nature of our national life is emphasized.

Now what does this mean? It means that we recognize a higher law than the law of the state—a standard of right by which the state itself is judged, and upon which the ultimate validity of its laws depends. The principle of our American democracy is often defined as "the rule of the majority." That is not quite correct; there must be something deeper if government is to be sound, and true, and genuinely democratic in securing the common welfare. That something is the rule of the individual citizen.

Majority rule is the best working principle we have found, but a majority vote never in itself made anything right. Our democratic belief is that right decisions are more likely to be made by all the people, acting in their own interest, than by tyrants, or dictators, or by class rule. But where there is no vision the people perish. It is the quality of the people that determines the worth of the government. The true principle of our democracy is that every man is a king, and if the king abdicates, or does not wisely exercise his kingship, misrule results. There is no magic in "democracy," if individual citizens live and act upon a low level of moral vision and social responsibility.

Christian citizenship, therefore, has a very real meaning. What manner of persons we ought to be, when we think of our Christian and democratic heritage! God grant that we may not fail as kings in a democracy!

IN WASHINGTON

By Peter Edson
(Monroe Morning World Washington Correspondent)

These are the days when the good Americano must read the foreign news with a fishy eye and with the shirt kept definitely on.

De Gaulle disarms Maquis. . . . Revolt to overthrow Franco brews in Spain. . . . Russia withdraws from aviation conference. . . . Argentina demands Pan-American parley on relations with United States. . . . Stilwell recalled at Chiang's request. . . . Chungking more interested in fighting Communists than Japs. . . . Churchill and Stalin unable to reach agreement over Polish future. . . . Honduran revolt reported. . . . Army officers oust Guatemalan president. . . . El Salvador president resigns. . . . Italy recognized.

All such news of the past month reveals an acute case of international jitters, the American presidential election being—to foreign eyes—just another symptom of the same.

Note that this rash of foreign news while it has an indirect relation to the war, is largely in the field of international politics and that it is concerned with jockeying for post-war position.

So important has all this spot news become, however, that it crowds its way onto the front page in spite of a Philippine invasion and a national election in the United States.

The Newspaper Reader's Job

But evaluation comes later, as the scene in each situation unfolds and the proper background is shifted into place to give the action its proper relationship to what has gone before. Here the job of the newspaper reader becomes important in correctly appraising what is serious, what is trivial, what is transitory.

The temptation to make a crisis out of every little international thing, when it happens, is great. The experts on foreign affairs particularly like to make mountains out of bean hills. But recall how many of these inflated obstacles have been punctured by nothing sharper than the point of Father Time's scythe.

A few months ago, for instance, the major powers were reported as falling apart because Soviet Russia, without consulting anybody, recognized the Badoglio government in Italy. What difference does that make today?

Russia's withdrawal from the International Aviation Conference can probably be put in the same bottle. It doesn't doom the conference. On the contrary, Russia may be the loser.

A bad situation in China can't be shrugged off quite so easily. Nevertheless, the war against Japan is going to be won whether General Stilwell or somebody else is in command. And whatever the relations between Chiang and the Chinese Communists, it cannot be forgotten that Chiang has not made peace with the Japs in seven years of a back-to-the-wall struggle. How much American interference is called for in a mess of this kind?

Thought For Anti-Franco Screamers

The fellow-travelers who went all-out in their vocal support of Republican Spain and can't forget that Franco gave them a licking are beginning to scream that since Franco is now cut off from Germany, now is the big chance for American interference to drive the Spanish dictator from power. Such an attitude ignores completely the fact that it took less effort to keep Spain as a technical neutral that it would have taken to support Franco if Franco had broken with Germany.

Revolutions in Central America have always been a dime a dozen. The Argentine impasse is something else again. But the step that Argentine has just taken in asking that its foreign relations be considered by a conference of Pan American foreign ministers is in complete accord with the proposals drafted at Dumbarton Oaks for a United Nations organization to maintain peace and security and settle the world's international disputes by peaceful negotiation.

All these involved foreign matters on the front pages today point towards the need of a United Nations organization to resolve them. There may be revolutions in France, Italy, Spain, China. As long as the questions are only the internal politics of a country, it is nobody else's business. As soon as there is a threat to the peace of the world, that becomes everybody's business.

PLANT VACCINE

Diethylene sodium bisethiocarbamate, when sprayed on the ground, is absorbed by food-producing plants and immunizes them from insect and fungi attacks. In recent tests, potato production has been increased from 25 to 100 bushels an acre with its use.

NINE COUNTRIES FREED TO TRAVEL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Nine countries previously blocked off by the war today were declared open to civilian travel without the requirement of military approval. The area thus freed includes most of France.

The state department, in making the announcement warned that travel facilities to these countries are extremely limited. It was also made plain that only those trips by Americans bearing on the war effort or in some way serving the national interest would have any prospect of clearance through the department.

Areas for which military [illegible] are no longer required, are Morocco, Algeria, Tunisia, Libya, Syria, Lebanon, Turkey, Cyprus and that area of France known as the "zone of the interior," which is all of France except the portions involved in active combat."

New York Day By Day
By CHARLES B. DRISCOLL
Title Reg. U. S. Patent Office

NEW YORK—Diary: I notice that Daughter Mary recites Shakespeare to her baby, to put her to sleep. Apparently, the selections are not made with any thought of their soothing sense, for today I heard her doing that long speech beginning, "For God's sake let us sit upon the ground and tell sad stories of the death of kings." . . . And here is a letter, just in, from Private Cal Tinney, somewhere in the field. I don't know where he's stationed, but he tells about Gandhi and goat's milk, so I can guess. . . . Friend Al Zere comes through with the news that the Zeros blind wirehaired terrier, Tinker, is entering upon a happy old age, 15 years, about six of them in darkness. She finds her way about the apartment with no apparent trouble, but cries piteously if left alone for any length of time.

Frank Markey remarks that he never knew anybody named Chauncey who wasn't well-to-do. "If I had a son I'd call him Chauncey, and I know he'd never die poor," he says.

I'd like to pose a war-and-peace problem which is getting a certain amount of serious thought in medical circles.

Your family doctor goes to war. He turns his practice over to another man, and you become accustomed to him, have confidence in him, just as you had in the regular family doctor. When the doctor comes back from the war, should you go back to him?

If a man has a right to come back to his old job, it would seem only fair that the doctor come back to his old practice.

For his patriotism, should he be penalized by loss of his patients?

Yet, there is always a chance that the customer likes the new doctor better, and the patient should have the right to choose the doctor he likes better.

Then, there's the doctor's side of it. Should the old doctor ask the new one, or expect him, to turn back the practice, and can he do it if he wants to?

It's a complicated situation. I'm afraid that a lot of patients in the medical profession are going to have to start building a new practice from scratch when they return.

Whenever I see Salvador Dali, as I did at a movie party recently, I can't help picturing him as jumping through a closed window at any moment, as he jumped through the plate glass front of a top Fifth Avenue department store some time ago. The thought of it makes me happy, so I'm in no condition to meet the very solemn-faced young man called Dali.

He jumped through the window in protest against the store manager having changed some details of a window display Dali had arranged. That establishes his reputation for artistic temperament.

Vincent Youmans, Hoagy Carmichael, Oscar Levant, Kitty Carlisle, Lilyan Pergen, Jimmy Savo and Lionel Hampton were among the guests I saw talking to Dali, and I spent some time wondering what they were talking about. Finally I decided that they must be trying to get Dali to jump through a plate glass window in a movie comedy, and enjoyed another chuckle. That would be a swell scene, wouldn't it?

Antwerp, too, was under bombardment and that "a large part of the population has fled into the country."

The German news agency DNB, stating that both the V-1 and the V-2 were being fired against Antwerp, said the dock and harbor installations were heavily damaged.

"The defense dock and Defevre dock and the Kempisch dock nearby were hit," DNB said, adding that "the authorities at once cordoned off the docks so as to prevent the news from spreading."

British agents are reported hunting down the launching sites from which V-2 rockets are being launched against southern England so that heavy bombers may give them the appropriate measures promised by Prime Minister Churchill.

Nedville Nordness, an Associated Press war correspondent, reported in a delayed dispatch from Eindhoven, Holland, that some of the first rockets hurled against England came from movable sites near The Hague, and he said that the famous peace palace shuddered under the vibrations.

Quoting an escaped Dutch government worker, he said civilians saw rockets being towed in huge carriers to the launching area, but never saw them actually fired.

The ground for acres around the site was scorched, clothes hanging on lines were seared, and a number of the German launching crew were said to have been killed or injured.

MRS. IDA WILLIAMS FUNERAL TODAY

Mrs. Ida Willis Williams, 80, died at the home of her son, S. Willis Williams, 1419 South Grand street, Saturday morning. The funeral will be held at the residence Sunday at 3 p. m. and will be of Christian Science nature. Interment in Riverview will be directed by the Mulhearn Funeral Home. Pallbearers will be: F. L. Faulk, G. S. Manning, J. M. Wyatt, H. H. Joiner, R. R. Cann and C. B Braun.

Mrs. Williams was the widow of A. M. Williams who died more than 20 years ago. Her father was the late Judge A. Willis of Monroe. She was born in Claiborne Parish but had spent the greater part of her life in Monroe. She was a member of the D. A. R. and active in church work.

She is survived by three daughters: Mrs. R. B. Reeves, Oak Grove; Mrs. L. A. Swann, Lake Charles; Mrs. B. J. Renaud, Monroe and two sons, S. Willis Williams and Arthur Williams Jr., both of Monroe; eight grandchildren of whom two are in armed service.

SILENCE CAUSES REPORTS HITLER DEAD OR INSANE

Many Indications Given Something Is Wrong With Fuehrer

LONDON, Nov. 11.—(AP)—The mysterious silence of Adolf Hitler has deluged London with reports that he is dead, seriously ill or suffering nervous disorders.

Strange doings on the German radio, dispatches from the Swiss and Swedish listening posts, and reports to London from the German underground all suggested that something may be wrong with the fuehrer.

The latest rumor, from Zurich, said Hitler had undergone a throat operation at the hands of an Austrian surgeon. This report, however, came from German sources, which may be trying to cover up Hitler's failure to make his usual speech on the November 5 anniversary of his 1923 Munich beer hall putsch.

London's Daily Express said under a front page headline today that "authoritative quarters in London" believed Hitler had been seriously injured in the bombing attempt against him on July 20.

The London Daily Mail also front-paged a suggestion by a prominent British psychologist, William Brown, that "the fuehrer may now be approaching the final phase of his mental sickness."

Reuters in a dispatch today from supreme Allied headquarters in Paris, said "the dead hand of Hitler is missing from the battlefront as well as from home front" as witnessed by the more skillful direction of the German army.

The Associated Press, on November 6, carried a report from a person closely in touch with the underground in Germany that a brain specialist, Professor Horster, had been called into examine Hitler at Klessheim, where he was staying while new fortifications were being completed around his mountain retreat at Berschtesgaden.

This person asserted today there were increasing indications that Hitler was badly off balance mentally. He said underground reports were that the fuehrer was absorbed with almost childish intent on the fortifications being speeded in this entire Alpine area and that he insisted on daily lectures from General Jacob, Nazi fortifications chief.

These unconfirmed reports have been strengthened by the German radio. It has offered excuses for his silence and issued panegyrics about what a great spiritual leader he is.

Whatever the reason, Hitler has remained publicly silent longer than at any time since his rise to power.

The last time his voice was heard was in a strange and shaky broadcast in the early morning hours of the day after the bombing attempt.

Heinrich Himmler has taken over more and more power. Significantly, perhaps, a voice from the audience listening to Hemmler's latest speech called out for three cheers for "Reichsfuehrer" Himmler—a risky thing to do in Hitler's hey-day.

HITLER'S SANITY DOUBTED AT END OF OTHER WAR

LONDON, Nov. 11.—(AP)—A great, bloody conflict ended 26 years ago this morning, doctors in a military hospital in the German town of Pasewalk studied the case of a shell-shocked German corporal and debated whether to send him to a mental institution.

They finally released the melancholy corporal as fit, and Adolf Hitler walked out into the gloomy day.

At far-flung points elsewhere on the globe, three comparatively unknown men whom destiny had marked to shape the future of the world greeted the end of that war with a firm belief that only peace and prosperity lay ahead. They had never heard of Adolf Hitler.

In Washington, a young man named Franklin Delano Roosevelt, who was considered quite efficient around the navy department where he was under-secretary, was convalescing from pneumonia.

In London, Winston Churchill stood at the window of his room looking toward Trafalgar Square.

In Russia, Joseph Stalin was in the process of planning a long-range program of reconstruction for the new Soviet Union—a quiet little man still in the background.

In Germany, Heinrich Himmler was trying to get enough gas to operate his taxi, a newspaperman named Joseph Goebbels was seeking employment, and Herman Goering was boasting of his feats as a combat pilot.

Dwight D. Eisenhower, the man destined to command all the Allied armies against Hitler a quarter of a century later, was somewhat disappointed when he heard of the armistice because he had had no opportunity to get into combat. At 11 a. m. Nov. 11, 1918, Eisenhower was at Camp Colt, Gettysburg, Pa., commanding a tank training school.

Today, those men who celebrated that peace of 26 years ago are locked in the world's greatest conflict with the corporal who escaped confinement in a mental home.

Unknown to each other then, Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin now are planning to meet soon to shape the course of the world after Hitler has been liquidated.

But what of Adolf Hitler? He failed to make his usual broadcast this week on the biggest Nazi anniversary of all—the anniversary of the Munich Beer Hall Putsch. Stockholm reports say people in Germany believe he is dead. Some reports have hinted that he is mentally ill and that a brain specialist was called to Berchtesgaden.

But whatever the truth, one fact stands out clearly—Adolf Hitler is sinking fast into the oblivion he knew before 11 a. m. 26 years ago today.

FIFTEEN BALES OF COTTON CATCH FIRE

Fifteen bales of cotton on a truck caught fire yesterday afternoon, and the blaze was extinguished by Monroe firemen who rushed to Sixth street and Layton avenue to meet the truck. Firemen spent over an hour putting out the fire which burned only the cotton and did not damage the truck, firemen said.

The cotton was reported owned by S. W. Pipes, Bosco.

Two grass fires, one at 1016 Georgia street and the other at 18th and Adams street, were also extinguished yesterday afternoon.

er of leadership. Democratic institutions had stood the supreme test to fashion national unity of purpose, not discord in the political campaign fires.

The free world marveled as it took note of that. On Germany and Japan it served grim notice that their hopes of disunion within United Nations ranks were vain.

At the week-end the battle lines in Europe east, west and south, graphically confirmed Marshal Stalin's revolution anniversary declaration that the "jump-offs" planned at Teheran for the final Russian-Allied triple attack on Germany itself had been reached. Weather conditions were still hampering but had not halted either Russian or Allied armies.

There were intimations that a full-scale Russian winter offensive was about to break on the foe from the Baltic to the Danube.

In the west Patton's Third army drove forward its double jawed squeeze on the Metz-Thionville barrier, last powerful Nazi bastion on French soil guarding approaches to the Saar and the middle Rhine. It was protectively flanked by American Seventh army pressure in the Vosges on its right. Northward the First army clawed its way inch by inch toward Cologne and with the south shore of the Maas swept clear of the enemy, British and Canadian armies seemed readying for a new power blow at the Dutch gateway to the Hanoverian plain.

Beyond the Pacific the deadly attrition campaign against already crippled Japanese sea power went on. The crux of the MacArthur led invasion of the Philippines had been reached on Leyte with a new Japanese command risking heavy reinforcements to hold off complete loss of the central waters of the Philippine archipelago.

In the southwest preparations for British sea and amphibious action to link up with the American advance from the east were unmistakable. Only in China, where Tokyo claimed the capture of Kweilin and Liuchow, virtually cutting eastern and western China apart, was the military outlook unfavorable.

Bolin, according to attending physicians, suffered a skull fracture, both legs were broken and one arm was fractured in addition to general bruises and contusions.

Bolin, employed by Strauss and Sons for about eight years, had lived in Ouachita parish since 1929. His home was at 505 North Sixth street, West Monroe.

Funeral arrangements, being handled by Mulhearn Funeral Home, had not been completed last night.

NATIONAL BOOK WEEK NOW HERE

Louisiana Library Commission Will Observe Event

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 11.—(Special)—Libraries in all sections of Louisiana will join in the celebration of National Book Week which opens November 12 to continue through November 18, it was announced here today by Miss Essae M. Culver, executive secretary of the Louisiana library commission.

The commission will hold its annual "Author's Night" Wednesday, November 15, at 8 p. m. at the headquarters here when Harnett Kane, New Orleans author, whose latest book "Deep Delta Country" is just off the press, will tell of his experiences in collecting material for the book. Kane is the author also of "Louisiana Hayride" and "The Bayous of Louisiana."

The commission will also award reading certificates to persons who have read 12 selected books during the year. These certificates are signed by Gov. James H. Davis and Judge Frank Voelker, chairman of the commission, and are awarded annually by the commission. The number of certificates to be awarded this year has not yet been finally determined.

Special programs are planned for book week by libraries over the state. Miss Debora Abramson, assistant secretary of the commission, will speak November 16 at the Lake Charles celebration and other commission members will speak elsewhere in Louisiana.

"United Through Books" is the theme of the Book Week celebration this year.

SUPERIOR CLEANERS' SHOP BURGLARIZED

At 6:57 a. m. yesterday morning the Monroe city police received a call from B. L. Graham, proprietor of the Superior Cleaners at 429 DeSiard street, who reported that his place had been burglarized some time during the night of November 10.

An investigation was made by city police officers and they reported that $20 and an undetermined amount of tax money had been taken. Mr. Graham did not know whether any clothing was missing. The investigation showed that entrance was gained with a key, since there was no evidence of any forced entrance, and the rear door was used as an exit.

If a large cheddar or Swiss cheese has been purchased for use in the home, it should be kept under refrigeration below 50 degrees Fahrenheit.

Monroe Fighter Aids On Staff Of 'Best War Paper'

Guadalcanal Mimeographed Newspaper Ranks At Top In Its Class

GUADALCANAL, B. S. I.—Every newspaperman will admit wanting to run a paper of his own some day. Here, on this south Pacific island where palm groves shade ground once broken by foxholes, a group of army men, all with pre-war printer's ink in their veins, are getting a big ban out of producing a daily paper that is making a name for itself. "AFSCAP" stands for air force service command Asiatic press. It is widely read from the Solomons to the Admiralty Islands, has a daily circulation of 15,000 and was rated in a world-wide competition sponsored by Camp Newspaper Service, of which Yank is the parent organization, "The best overseas mimeographed paper."

A member of the staff is Ralph E. Irving, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Irving, 1805 Jackson street, Monroe. He was graduated from Neville High School in 1942, attended Northeast Junior College in the summer of 1942 and then entered Southwestern at Lafayette, La., in the fall. He entered the air corps a year ago. He is an accomplished musician, playing the piano and cornet. He was student director of the Neville High School band, student director of the college band at Lafayette, and also has been director of the band where he is now stationed in Guadalcanal.

Recently he was on the air in a "Hero of Heroes" program from Hollywood, Calif. He is proud to be on the staff of the best overseas mimeographed paper.

Proud boss of the paper's staff is Capt. Russell E. Peck from Sedalia, Mo., before the war director of military and naval welfare service at American Red Cross national headquarters. Now special service officer for this air force command, he has an assistant, First Lt. Ronald Robinson, from Waverly, N. Y., who also came into the army from the Red Cross, having served that organization as field director at Pine Camp, N. Y.

"The brains and personality behind AFSCAP," Captain Peck says, "belong to Joe Henchel." S Sgt. Joe Henchel, from Jackson Heights, N. Y., for several years was editorial writer for the New Haven News, has been selling editorial cartoons through the John Henne Publications. He studied art at the Art Students' League in New York City. His wife works in the research laboratory of Good Housekeeping. Henchel is pretty pleased that the paper, started over a year ago in the Hebrides under another name, also won the New York Newspaper Guild Award for the best service paper in or out of the United States.

"We figure that ten or more men read each copy every day," he says. "Navy outfits, the hospital, the radio station, all send for it. For one thing we have it over many other papers in that we get the last minute news over our own shortwave set."

There are plenty of new ideas ricocheting around the busy quonset hut where AFSCAP is published. Latest is a process for reproducing photographs by a mimeograph stencil from plates. Workers are now experimenting in color.

Army public relations headquarters Yank, OWI, American News Service, American Red Cross public relations, American Legion, all receive copies of the south Pacific paper. "We aim towards a strictly news edition," Sergeant Henchel says. "To keep men informed on world events, with emphasis on the Asiatic theater." Sunday brings two extra pages of personnel news. Popular features are a comic strip by Henchel, "Arch Farch," a character who can in turn be a general, a Pfc., or a War; and the cartoons of Pfc. Ralph Shaffer, from Chicago, Ill., once sports cartoonist for the Buffalo Times and Cleveland Press.

Captain Peck, a graduate of the University of Missouri, for five years before joining the Red Cross, practiced corporation law in St. Louis and Kansas City. He is a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Waco, Tex. Activities under his direction also include all movie, sports and other entertainment for the men in the air service command.

510 MEMBERS ARE SIGNED BY LEGION

A total of 510 members were signed up by the L. B. Faulk post of the American Legion in its membership drive which ended yesterday, and local legion officials said the figure was the highest the Monroe post had ever boasted.

The new members include veterans of the present conflict. Membership enrollment headquarters had been established the past three days in the court room of the city hall, and response from ex-servicemen was reported as gratifying.

Initiation of the big class of new members will take place at the post meeting on November 20.

ELECTION IN 1948 ALREADY STUDIED

Wonder Whether Roosevelt Will Build Up Successor To Himself

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Where do the Democrats and Republicans go from here?

The Republicans, benched for 16 years, get their next big chance in the presidential election of 1948.

The Democrats, repeatedly winning with Mr. Roosevelt, this year did it by about three millions votes, the narrowest popular vote since 1916.

But in the last four elections the Democrats won by an electoral landslide. It's the electoral votes which win elections.

In those four elections the Republicans' total electoral vote was not enough to win even one election. Hoover got 59, Landon 8, Willkie 82, and Dewey 99.

That's only 248 in four tries. In any one election the winning candidate must get at least 266 of the total 531 electoral votes.

A lot can happen to the Democrats and Republicans—to strengthen or weaken them—between now and 1948.

Some factors certainly aided the Democrats this time:

Voters' unwillingness to change leadership in the middle of war and delicate peace plans; confidence in Mr. Roosevelt's personal leadership; and confidence in the Democrats' congressional record.

By 1948 Mr. Roosevelt may have decided four terms were enough. The war almost surely will be over. Peace plans will be completed or well charted. And the Republicans may have built up a congressional record more inspiring than that of the Democrats.

Here are some questions and problems about both parties that come to mind:

Democrats . . .

Will the president build up some one as a successor to himself in 1948. A standout Democrat with voter appeal?

Will the C. I. O. Political Action Committee, credited with a good share in the Democrats' victory, continue? It has found labor is a political force.

If it continues, will it alienate some Democrats?

But it's not certain the PAC would support the Democrats in 1948. It could base its support on what the Democrats and Republicans do between now and 1948 and what they represent at that time.

The traditionally Democratic South may be a factor four years from now. The threat of a split there—formation of an independent party—didn't come to pass this time.

But feeling might turn bitter if this administration works to abolish the southern states' poll tax and set up the fair employment practice committee as a permanent agency to prevent racial discrimination among workers.

Republican. . . .

They've made no progress in the south but will they try now?

There are millions of potential southern voters who never get to the polls: Poor whites and Negroes unable to pay the poll taxes and Negroes kept away by literacy tests and other means.

Mr. Dewey says the Republicans emerged from this election more united than they have been in 16 years. But what about the Republican leadership hereafter? Will it be active and progressive?

Even their staunchest party supporters say the Republican leadership was not all it could be. Commending Herbert Brownell Jr., for his work as Republican national committee chairman in this campaign, the Republican New York Herald Tribune says:

"He has brought youth, vigor and a progressive outlook to an organization bogged down in caution and hesitation."

The Republicans certainly will keep their eye on 1948 when they vote in Congress on the gigantic problems coming up there.

And what about their candidate in 1948? Mr. Dewey again? He said he has no "illusions" about 1948 although he is titular head of the party now. The Republicans have never renominated a defeated candidate, although they could.

Or will they think of a serviceman—someone who also has a record of public service, like former Governor Stassen of Minnesota—as the most likely vote getter?

A refrigerator should not be placed close to the kitchen range, radiator or hot-air register, since heat from them is sure to make the motor operate more and wear faster.

PEACE OFFICERS WILL MEET HERE

A law enforcement conference such as have been held the past week in Shreveport, Alexandria and Natchitoches, will be held in the Ouachita parish courthouse early Monday afternoon. All peace officers from cities and towns of the Fifth congressional district are cordially invited to attend.

Purpose of the conference is to offer training in law enforcement work, afford an opportunity for discussion of mutual problems and for the furtherance of cooperation among law enforcement agencies throughout the state.

At the meeting, demonstrations and discussions of road blocks, defensive tactics and disarming methods will be presented, together with a display of information concerning wanted persons.

A barbecue, sponsored by the state police force will be held immediately following the meeting. Details will be announced at the meeting.

The meeting, like the others already held, is sponsored by A. P. Kitchin, special agent of the F. B. I. in New Orleans.

You can also use window cleaner on mirrors and picture glass.

BASKIN YOUTH MISSING IN WAR

Son Of Dr. And Mrs. J. P. Frellsen Unreported Since November 4

BASKIN, La., Nov. 11.—(Special)—Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Frellsen of Baskin have been informed by the government that their son, Lt. Max E. Frellsen, is missing in the Southwest Pacific in the performance of his duties and in the service of his country.

Lt. Frellsen received his degree at Louisiana Tech in June 1941. He enlisted in September and received his wings and commission in June 1942 at Corpus Christi. He was soon after assigned to the Pacific fleet for active duty.

He participated in four major battles including Rabaul, New Britian, and Tarawa. He was given a 30-day leave and returned to the States. His squadron left the States for a tour of duty in the Pacific last June and he was reported as missing last November 4. Just recently he received a dispatch from his admiral praising him for meritorious work as fighter pilot. His plane was the latest Grumman Fighter.

Lt. Frellsen has two sisters, Mary Elise Frellsen, on the staff at the Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, and Alice Frellsen, student at Sophie Newcomb College, New Orleans. Their grandmother, Mrs. Alice Hopkins, lives at Marion, La.

REORGANIZED EUROPE TOPIC

George J. Rony Will Address Town Hall Club On Monday

George J. Rony, Russian-born motion picture director and producer who is a fugitive from three dictatorships and had a hair breath escape from France, will address the Monroe Town Hall Club, at the Ouachita Parish High School auditorium, Monday at 8 p. m. The address is for members only season tickets being required for presentation for admission.

Mr. Rony was appointed by the French government at the outbreak of this war to write and produce propaganda pictures, and one of them, "The Greatest Gangster," satirizing Hitler and depicting him as an international gangster, made him a marked man in Europe. Only a miracle saved his life and the lives of his family during their flight through France, Spain and Portugal after the fall of Paris.

Born in Leningrad, he was in his teens during the first years of Soviet Russia. From his early childhood he has known the horrors of revolution and dictatorships and wars, of misery and starvation, of extensive traveling and dangerous adventures. Shortly after the outbreak of the Revolution in Russia he crossed Siberia on the way to China and returned to Moscow after a dramatic trip of 156 days across Siberia.

Mr. Rony became interested in the motion picture field in 1920 when he helped to produce a film depicting hunger in the Volga region, one of the world's greatest famines. He was editor of the "Birth of a Nation" and "Intolerance" in Russia, in connection with which he wrote his first book at the age of 19, the story of David W. Griffith. He has published more than 14 books and 20 screen plays, and is the owner of one of the largest libraries of historical films. He has visited all the countries and speaks nearly all the languages of Europe.

CANNED VITAMIN C

A record fruit crop forecast for 1944-1945 means more canned citrus fruit and fruit juices for civilians, and an even larger percentage of canned citrus for the armed forces. The army medical corps has discovered that the vitamin C foods help men withstand the effects of high altitudes, underwater pressure, and extreme climatic conditions.

ASTHMA SPASMS
Liberal Supply Free

The development by French Chemists of a palliative formula for easing the difficulty in coughing and breathing caused by spasms of Bronchial Asthma brought such striking results that its fame quickly spread over Europe. Now introduced in the United States as Bel-Din. This preparation contains the same active ingredients and acts as a palliative to ease gasping, choking and the feeling of suffocation that oftentimes accompanies Bronchial Asthma. Caution: Use only as directed. The Montrose Sales Co., Inc., Dept. 144-C, Montrose, Calif., is anxious that all sufferers from Bronchial Asthma Spasms try this preparation. They will send a liberal supply Free to anyone who writes them. If you wish, you may send 10c to cover mailing and handling. Send for it today.—(Adv.)

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Grammont at Catalpa
Ernest D. Holloway, Pastor

"A Churchman After God's Own Heart" is the theme of the morning message. Such a man lived in the long ago, and His record is an inspiration today. We are interested in the attitude, the opinions, and the actions of this man. If we were only like Him results would be forthcoming.

"That Which Sustains" is the subject of the evening meditation. The apostle has his trials, sorrows and misgivings. He carried on, and one of the factors in His marvellous ministry was the support and understanding of His co-workers.

Will you, the members of the congregation, join us in a plan that contemplates the reading of certain passages of scripture, beginning November 23 and ending December 25, as an earnest effort to enlist as many people as possible as members of the church? We shall have more to say about these efforts.

A hearty welcome awaits you at all hours of worship.

Women Gather From Every Section Of State For Federated Club Convention

National Officer Attends Convention

Forty-Fifth Annual Convention Is One Of Most Brilliant In History

A great body of women, one of the largest in the history of the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs, attended the 45th annual convention in Baton Rouge, November 2-3, at the Heidelberg Hotel.

The convention under the direction of the state president, Mrs. A. D. Tisdale of Monroe, had as its theme, "Victory and a Just and Durable Peace Through Unity."

The convention was called to order by Mrs. Tisdale, at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon on the north roof. Presiding, in addition to Mrs. Tisdale were Mrs. Samuel Levy, first vice-president; Mrs. H. M. Mims, second vice-president and Mrs. Turner K. Butler, president of the Sixth district.

Mrs. Felix J. Marx of Baton Rouge served as convention chairman. Hostesses were the presidents of the local clubs, Mrs. H. M. Mims, Round Table Club; Mrs. Tucker Dawson, Literary Club; Mrs. Milton Spencer, Epochal Study Club; and Mrs. L. M. Waite Poetry Club.

Reports from the various state standing and special committee chairmen, department of work chairmen and their division chairmen and state officers were given at this meeting.

A memorial service for deceased members was held with Mrs. James Means of Vivian, in charge. Those memorialized were: Mrs. John Shuttleworth, Hypatia Club, Shreveport, honorary president, chairman of the loan scholarship fund, L. F. W. C.; Mrs. C. W. Page and Mrs. J. W. Adams, DeSoto Department Club, Mansfield; Mrs. T. C. Chekal, Pierian Study Club, Vivian; Mrs. B. W. Marston, Era Civic Club, Shreveport; Mrs. George W. Sevier, Tallulah Book Club, Tallulah; Mrs. G. A. Adams, Pierian Club, Ruston; and Mrs. Marie Booles Adams, Pierian Club, Ruston.

The convention was attended by 107 delegates representing 50 clubs, which included eight state officers, seven district presidents, many state chairmen, the national president and the national chairman of resolutions. 67 visitors registered.

At the close of the meeting two teas were given to honor members of the Federated Women's Clubs. The Library Commission Tea was given at 4 o'clock at the Library Commission. The Art Commission Exhibit and tea was held at 5 o'clock in the galleries of the old state capitol.

Thursday evening the group convened on the south roof of the Heidelberg Hotel, to hear an address by Mrs. LaFell Dickinson, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

This was an open meeting and the spacious roof was filled to capacity. Mrs. Felix J. Marx presided and extended a welcome to all in behalf of the Baton Rouge Federated Women's Clubs.

Mrs. A. D. Tisdale presented Mrs. LaFell Dickinson and Mrs. Horace B. Richey, general chairman of Resolutions

Mr. Arthur Schutzman sang a French love song.

Mrs. Marx introduced Mr. Harnett Kane, who spoke briefly, reviewing briefly his book "Deep Delta Country." November 2, was publication day for this book which is so widely acclaimed.

The skit "A Bill Becomes a Law," was then presented by the Business and Professional Women's Club. This skit was prepared and sent out by the General Federation and proved to be highly instructive.

Mrs. Dickinson's talk, which concluded the meeting was inspirational and timely. She chose as her subject "Homemaking in the Post-War World." Great effort and thought was directed toward better homes. The need for happy and wholesome home-life was especially stressed. "Women," she said, "are lax in voting. They should not only vote, they should run for office. She also criticized the unpleasant attitude of women toward those women who take part in political life.

The General Federation has given a list of 400 eligible names to Edward Stettinius, assistant secretary of navy, from which he, the president and all concerned are to select women to take part in the peace conference. Women must have a voice in the peace, she said.

In closing, Mrs. Dickinson regretted the loss of spiritual values in the home of today. She urged women to resume the old practice of family worship and knowledge of the Bible, with the stabilizing, strengthening effect this gives.

An informal reception honoring Mrs. Dickinson, given by the hostess clubs to all State Federation Club women and their guests on the North Roof, followed Mrs. Dickinson's talk.

The closing session of the convention was held Friday morning at 9 o'clock on the north roof, with Mrs. A. D. Tisdale presiding. The morning was devoted to business and an institute on "Post-War Planning," conducted by Mrs. LaFell Dickinson, president of the General Federation of Women's Club.

Report of delegates to the General Federation Convention in St. Louis, Mo., were given. Reports of district presidents and the outstanding club in each district were given.

Mrs. A. B. Fuller, chairman of year books and scrap books announced the Welcome Branch Book Club, Monroe, as winner in the publicity scrap book contest and the Literary Club, Rayville, winner in Class B yearbook contest.

The organization adopted three resolutions, presented on first reading at the afternoon session Thursday. The resolutions suggested: Character Building and Crime Prevention; Juvenile Delinquency, and Restricted Immigration.

Mrs. Horace B. Ritchie of Athen, Ga., spoke to the convention on the subject of "Cancer" and is in this state in the interest of the American Society for Control of Cancer.

The place of the state convention for 1945 will be named later. The convention closed at 1:30 Friday afternoon followed by a luncheon at the Lafitte Restaurant with the presidents of the Baton Rouge Federated Clubs, hostesses, Mrs. LaFell Dickinson, Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, Mrs. Turner K. Butler and Mrs. Felix Marx were guests.

Determined to surpass the record-breaking total of last year's alumnae fund, Sweet Briar College alumnae have launched their twelfth annual alumnae fund drive under the chairmanship of Miss Geraldine Mallory, Tenafly, N. J., for the second successive year.

Mrs. King Stubbs, 1100 Riverside drive, Monroe formerly Miss Sue Graves is among the 35 class agents, volunteers appointed by Miss Mallory, who together with more than 100 sub-agents are carrying on solicitation for the 1944-45 alumnae fund.

In honor of Dr. Mary K. Benedict, New Haven, Conn., first president of the college who held the post from 1906 to 1916, members of the early classes at Sweet Briar are working through the alumnae fund to establish an endowed scholarship of $12,000. The scholarship drive is under the chairmanship of Miss Marion Peele, Norfolk, Va.

War stamps and bonds purchased for Sweet Briar have been responsible for a large measure of the success of the last three alumnae fund drives, Miss Mallory believes, and stamp books have again been sent to the alumnae. Last year's report shows a total of $9,159 contributed to the fund, $5,959 of which was in the form of war stamps and bonds, which were added to the general endowment fund of the college. The 1943-44 fund showed an increase of $2,346 over that of the preceding year.

Proceeds of this year's drive, other than those designated for the Benedict Scholarship, will be given as an unrestricted gift to the college.

Ireland Subject Of Club Progam

Mrs. Colbert And Mrs. Moore Review Two New Books By Irish Authors

Ireland, land of shamrocks and emerald isles, was the subject of an interesting program enjoyed by members of the Review Club when they met in the home of Mrs. Sam Smith. From the jewel-tinted miniatures of saints in the "Book of Kells" to the haunting poetry of William Butler Yeats, there has always been a quality of special charm, of highly individual beauty, about Irish culture. To many people, Ireland, even unvisited, has remained a land of enchantment, almost impossible to reconcile with the violence of its revolutionaries and the strange limbo of its present neutrality.

Mrs. H. W. Colbert reviewed "The Last of Summer," by Kate O'Brien, and Mrs. D. M. Moore reviewed "The Magic Realm," by Kathleen Coyle. Kate O'Brien and Kathleen Coyle are both endowed, though perhaps in a minor way, with the genuine Irish gift that can transmute the commonplace of memory and experience into something magic and slightly removed from reality.

Mrs. Colbert reviewed "The Last of Summer" in such an interesting manner, that the listeners were able to share the fascination with Kate O'Brien that she so vividly brought out by the contrast between Irish and French attitudes and ways of living, the delicate juxtaposition of traditions which have much in common and yet much in sharp difference.

Mrs. Moore's splendid review of "The Magical Realm" left the thought that "The Magical Realm" for Kathleen Coyle is the dream-world of childhood—the period of life that begins in darkness and ends with "our emergence from a state of dream into reality." "The Magical Realm" is an exquisite and subtle book. It could have been written only by one who had grown up in Ireland, one who is a poet no less than an accomplished novelist.

The business meeting which preceded the program was presided over by Mrs. E. P. Cudd in the absence of the president, Mrs. W. T. Davis. Mrs. Cudd advised all club members to read Eve Garrette's valuable and informative "Political Handbook for Women."

Mrs. Paul T. Wright gave a report of the Forty-Fifth Annual Convention of the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs, held November 2-3 in Baton Rouge. The organization was honored with the presence of Mrs. Le Fell Dickinson, President of General Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Dickinson addressed the assembly Friday evening on the subject, "Home making in the Post War World."

Refreshments were served by the hostess to the following members: Mrs. Z. J. Byrd, Mrs. H. W. Colbert, Mrs. E. P. Cudd, Mrs. A. T. Givens, Mrs. J. C. Loftin, Mrs. W. L. Mitchell Jr., Mrs. D. M. Moore, and Mrs. Paul T. Wright.

Need For Homes Is Now Acute

A committee, comprising several members of the Officers' Wives Club of Selman Field met recently for the purpose of starting an active campaign to register all available quarters in this vicinity. The need is great and becoming more acute every day. The most pressing problem seems to be the returning officer who has been in combat and is sent to Selman Field for the short period of about ten weeks. Naturally, when a man has been away fighting for months or years, he wants his family with him as soon as possible when he comes home. This is one way the people of Monroe can help the war effort, which is as important as helping in a war drive or taking part in any civilian defense activity. There are many vacant rooms and some vacant homes throughout the city. The officers' wives will keep on file each room, apartment, and house and will make a special effort to find a rentor who will be acceptable to the landlord. They will list the amount of rooms, whether or not children or pets will be admitted, whether or not kitchen privileges are permitted. In this way they can send a tenant to the landlord who offers what he most needs.

The record is being kept in the Officers' Wives Club office. The Club office (6400, Ext. 208) is open daily from 2:00 to 5:30 except Saturday and on Wednesdays from 10:30 to 4:30. Persons having any vacancies or who are willing to share-a-home are urged to contact the Club.

Mrs. Leslie Perry is serving as chairman. Members of the committee are Mrs. Jack Clause and Mrs. Shelwin Kibbe.

Shops You Must Visit with Camille

LET ALADDIN KEEP HIS MAGIC LAMP! I, like hundreds of others, am satisfied just to sit comfortably in an arm chair with one of those good books from FERD LEVI'S. "There is no frigate like a book to take you miles away." The Monroe reading public never thinks of books without turning to FERD LEVI'S SHOP. They are sure to find the book they are seeking. Much in demand at this time are the books for children . . . they are simply fascinating . . . even grown-ups lose themselves between the pages. Books this year are being selected for Christmas gifts because they are lasting and regarded by the owner as their very best friends.

I WAS IN MOORE'S TAILORING SHOP the other day and saw a beautiful tailored suit ready for delivery. It was, without a doubt the loveliest suit I ever clapped my eyes on. It was of soft wool in a glorious shade of blue. I knew that it belonged to a fastidious woman . . . someone who sought the unusual, the distinctive type of garment. I saw other orders not yet filled, for made-to-measure suits in shades of purple, blue, lilac, gray and black . . . the materials were tweed, gabardine, wool broadcloth and basket weave. Really these distinctive tailleurs are incomparable.

GOOD LITTLE BOYS AND GIRLS will be remembered with Christmas gifts from the SHERWIN-WILLIAMS GIFT SHOP. They will be in seventh heaven Christmas morning when they find a soft, snowy, white puppy with bright natural looking eyes . . . an enchanting doll with flaxen hair . . . a little table with chairs for a tea party or just for plain everyday living . . . a rocking horse . . . a blackboard with crayons . . . games of every description . . . a doll bed. There are also gifts for mother and dad at this attractive shop. Visit SHERWIN-WILLIAMS GIFT SHOP tomorrow. Pick up some of these remarkable values.

DADDY GOES A-HUNTING . . . but there is no need for mother to hunt around for nutritious bread, home-made cakes and pies . . . she goes straight to the CITY BAKERY, home of delicious baked goods. She gives her order in advance for special things like fruit cakes baked in the good old-fashioned way to insure indefinite moisture. For years and years, these fruit cakes from the CITY BAKERY have been a favorite gift for holiday cheer, the unexpected guest or the week-end hostess. What a comfort to have a bakery near at hand catering to your demands these days of shortages.

DO YOU REMEMBER the night you walked into Monroe's famous night club the CASCADE, and found a new friend? Of course you do because you were feeling kind of down-hearted on this particular night and wandered into the CASCADE where good friends get together. The talk was enlivening . . . the laughter was spontaneous and everyone was merry and gay. You resolved then and there never again to suffer loneliness . . . not as long as the CASCADE'S doors were open to you. It would be difficult to determine how many hundreds of patrons have made this resolution.

OLD KING COLD WAS A MERRY OLD SOUL. He called for his pipe, he called for his fiddlers and he called for his glass of Sparkling Burgandy, the kind now found at the A AND A PACKAGE SHOP. The vineyards in eastern France have been famous for centuries for this robust wine of delightful flavor. You will find a few bottles still remaining at the A AND A PACKAGE SHOP . . . the home of wines of rare vintage. Don't be satisfied with any but the best and you will get nothing but the best at this shop catering only to discriminating people.

DURRETT'S GIFT SHOP is one of the most delightful spots in town to visit when on a shopping tour. A corner of the shop reserved by that talented young artist Olive Vandruff for her studio is thronging with men and women. She is painting miniatures of Monroe children and naturally interest is running high. Those already finished are exquisite. The delicacy of her color and its emotional quality are two factors in the success of her work. Her painting is sure . . . no fumbling nor rough edges despite her ability to finish a portrait is less time than it takes the average artist. The Monroe public is simply clamoring for these portraits for Christmas gifts. Miss Vandruff is also taking orders for painting family pets . . . dogs, cats and heads of horses.

MONROE IS UNDER THE SPELL OF OLD MEXICO . . . and no wonder. THE MEXI-CRAFT SHOP is now showing the most fascinating things imaginable from south of the border. In the shop there is color such as you can have in your home by simply purchasing a few articles. A serape or blanket perhaps to hang on the wall . . . a big Mexican basket, artistic in design and hand-woven in colors of vivid hue for a dark corner. Even the clothes hampers have color. Why not give your best friend one of those Mexican trays. Your neighbor's children and your own as well, would love one of those little Mexican chairs . . . your small daughter would look adorable in a fiesta coat.

A TIP FOR THE GLAMOUR GIRL! I was shown a dinner gown at the STYLE SHOP that simply intrigued me . . . I vowed it was designed by the goddesses on Mt Olympus. It is a gown for all those glamorous nights ahead . . . a slender sheath of black with deep transparent yoke and a hint of all the heavenly colors on the bodice. The long skirt is draped in dramatic manner at one side. Really girls, I can't describe such a heavenly gown but believe me it is for those who have a man in mind. The wearer will never forget the female who dances by in this dress. Do you need a black ensemble for street wear? It is waiting for you at the STYLE SHOP . . . a smart tailored suit with unusual silver buttons and top coat trimmed in black velvet.

THE EXTREME MENTAL TORTURE experienced by the sensitive ones who find need to borrow money is a thing of the past . . . that is of course if money is borrowed from the THREE WAY FINANCE CO. The method used by this dispensing loan company puts the customer at ease. You leave the office with the money safely tucked away feeling as though you had actually done them a favor. This painless method of borrowing money is characteristic of the THREE WAY FINANCE CO. In fact business men and women have decided that the THREE WAY FINANCE CO. is the best friend they ever had. Give them a call and find out for yourself.

FLOWERS ARE NOT ALONE FOR THOSE who have departed from the bright precincts of this world. In fact MAY BIRNEY at THE FLOWER SHOPPE will tell you that more flowers are bought today for the living than ever before in the history. Flowers seem to be woman's armor against the war. Can you imagine a woman weeping who wears flowers of vivid colors nestling pertly on her shoulder? Of course you can't . . . that is why a woman treats herself to a corsage . . . it's a good lift to the morale. Let THE FLOWER SHOPPE send you a gay little nosegay each week.

HATS OFF TO ONE OF MONROE'S busiest and most energetic business women, RUTH SURGUINE. She recently accepted a position as manager of the insulation department of the UNITED ELECTRIC CO. and is convincing all home owners the necessity of insulation. Yes, it's true there's no place like home that is if home happens to be warm and cozy. Otherwise it's a mighty uncomfortable place . . . cold, drafty rooms, uneven temperature. Mrs. Surguine says, "you don't have to put up with it. By merely letting the EAGLE HOME AND BUILDING INSULATORS come to your house for a few hours these conditions can be alleviated." No more dreading cold weather. And what a saving of fuel. Just let Ruth Surguine tell you all about this marvelous insulation system.

ROMANCE AND CHARM of the deep South is contained in a book, "Louisiana Days," published by the League of Women Voters and placed on sale for the Christmas trade. The book is priced at $1, and is a combination 1945 calendar and sketches of the beauty spots of the Bayou Teche country. Such a gift would be ideal for that friend in the north who would like to know if the things we say about Dixie are true. One picture, the Vieux Carre in the famous old city of New Orleans is unusually intriguing. These books are on sale at the STANDARD OFFICE AND SUPPLY CO., DURRETT'S GIFT SHOP and FERD LEVI'S. Don't fail to get several books for that last minute Christmas gift.

Impressive Ceremony Unites Miss Doris Hyman And Lt. Robert D. Kahn

Ceremony Performed At H. Masur Home

Prominent Nuptial Event Claims The Interest Of Many Friends

One of the loveliest brides of the season was Miss Rose Doris Hyman, daughter of Mrs. Carrie Masur Hyman and the late Mr. Jesse Hyman, whose marriage to Lt. Robert D. Kahn, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Carroll Kahn of Indianapolis, Ind., took place Sunday afternoon, November 5, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

The wedding was performed with considerable dignity and beauty of ceremony in the spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Masur on North Third street with Rabbi F. K. Hirsch officiating in the presence of the immediate families.

An improvised altar was reared in one end of the drawing room where immense crystal urns overflowed with pale pink chrysanthemums. Pink chrysanthemums banked the mantel above which a handsome mirror reflected the flowers and candlelight. Pink candles of graduated lengths burned in beautiful white, wrought-iron, floor candelabra.

Candles also gleamed in the reception suite against a background of pale pink chrysanthemums and woodwardia fern.

A prenuptial concert was rendered by Mrs. Kate Allison, soloist and Mr. Wayne Womdley, violinist. "I Love You Truly" and "At Dawning" were featured.

The bride's cousin, Miss Bessie Ann Silverstein, served as maid of honor. She wore a beautifully molded gown of lime colored silk jersey fashioned along straight lines. She carried in her arms a magnificent bouquet of pink Briercliff rose.

The flower girl, Mildred Gene Levi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Levi, and also a cousin of the bride, wore an old fashioned dress of powder blue net over blue taffeta. It was fashioned along bouffant lines with long, full skirt. She carried a Colonial bouquet of pink roses.

The bridegroom was attended by his father.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Herman Masur, wore a picturesque wedding gown of white net over white Duchess satin. The bodice was of satin with short puffed sleeves. The long net gloves were fashioned of the same material as the wedding gown. The skirt, ruffled from the bodice to the hemline fell in a graceful train. Her veil of illusion was attached to a coronet of pearls. She carried an exquisite arm bouquet of white orchids, white bride's roses and tube roses caught with lengths of tulle.

Mrs. Hyman received the guests in a black crepe dinner model beautifully embroidered in sequins. She wore a corsage of purple orchids. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Kahn, wore a smart dinner model of black crepe embroidered in pink pearls. She wore a corsage of purple orchids.

Mrs. Herman Masur, assisting in the courtesies wore a black dinner dress with corsage of orchids.

Toasts to the bride and bridegroom were drunk in champagne served in the dining room where the young couple cut their wedding cake, a delicious three-tiered confection, embossed in crystalized roses and surmounted with figurines of a bride and uniformed bridegroom.

The bride's table was the essence of artistry with its cover of handsome, imported lace. Point deVenise lace. Low vases of pale pink French china placed at the four corners overflowed with pale pink pom-pom chrysanthemums. Pink tapers burned in seven branched silver candelabra at either end of the table. Silver compotes held a variety of sweets including pink bon-bons, individual wedding cakes and sandwiches.

The bride traveled in an advanced model of pastel green light weight wool with accessories of tobacco brown and a corsage of orchids.

Following a honeymoon in St. Louis Mo., and Indianapolis, Ind., the young couple will reside in Lincoln, Neb., where Lt. Kahn is stationed with the armed forces.

The bride, a lovely member of the younger set, is a graduate of Neville high school and Gulf Park college, Gulfport, Miss., and Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge. She is a member of Alpha Epsilon Phi sorority.

Lieutenant Kahn is a graduate of Purdue university. He is a member of Tau Epsilon Phi fraternity.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. S. Carroll Kahn of Indianapolis, parents of the bridegroom, Flight Officer Carroll Kahn Jr., and Pvt. David Kahn, brothers of the bridegroom, Mrs. Claudia Hyman and Mrs. Leroy Paris of Lexington, Miss., Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dante and children of Dumas, Ark.; Mrs. Solomon Goldman and daughters, of New Orleans.

MRS. M. MULLINIX JR.

Mrs. Monroe N. Mullinix Jr., bride of recent date, is the former Miss Dottie Eady, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Eady of this city.

Welcome Branch Club Wins Contest

'Paris Underground' Reviewed By Mrs. F. W. Dawson At Club Meeting

It was a thrilling moment for members of the Welcome Branch Book Club when they were informed by one of their members, Mrs. Paul T. Wright, publicity chairman of the Louisiana Federated Women's Clubs, that their club had won first place in the scrap book contest at the state convention in Baton Rouge. The book was compiled by Mrs. Stanley B. Archibald.

The November meeting of the club was held at the Recreation Center with Mrs. Zell Smith and Mrs. F. E. Black, hostesses. The business session, presided over by the president, Mrs. A. R. Doughty, included reports from the delegates to the state convention recently held in Baton Rouge. Mrs. J. W. Womack and Mrs. J. N. Riddle, were accepted for membership at this time.

The program, introduced by Mrs. V. S. Garnett, included two interesting book reviews with war-time France as their setting. Mrs. Stanley B. Archibald reviewed Helen McInnes' "Assignment in Brittany," which is the author's second book. Mrs. Archibald stated that, like her first book "Above Suspicion," this one is too, about a secret mission, this time in Nazi occupied France.

"Again it is an entertaining, thrilling story but all the freshness is gone. You are disappointed to feel that it is merely the old story in a new guise, all trimmed up for another success which it may or may not have along the lines of the first. The author employs a bag full of stale tricks. The delightful sense of humor so apparent in the first book seems to have deserted the author. Every bit of the story, every sentence, is deadly serious. It is just another thriller and that, perhaps, is the most disappointing thing about it."

Mrs. Archibald outlined briefly the plot of the book, dealing with the French soldier, Bertraud Corlay, and the British intelligence officer, Martin Hearne. She concluded her review with these remarks. "To this plot, which could not possibly be dull, Helen McInnes has added some other qualities which, since they are rare in action stories of this kind, must be regarded as pure velvet. Her prose is literate and graceful. It creates the illusion, pleasant to the reader, that the story must have been fun to write. She builds up a solid and interesting picture of Brittany, and its people which adds immensely to the worth of the story."

The popular book "Parish Underground," by Etta Shiber was ably reviewed by Mrs. F. W. Dawson, who said in part: "Here is a true story of the war that makes the wildest imaginings of fiction writers look pale. There has been no book like it, and its quiet, unassuming and tremendously thrilling chronicle of the author's experiences in smuggling nearly 200 British soldiers out of occupied France under the very noses of the Nazis is hardly likely to be surpassed for spine-tingling adventure and inspiring bravery.

"Mrs. Shiber and her French friend and companion, Kitty, started and for many months operated successfully the first 'underground railway' by which British soldiers escaped from the Nazi conquerors.

"Mrs. Shiber, widow of an American newspaper man, was living quietly in Paris when the tide of Nazi invasion rolled over France. With her friend Kitty she tried to escape from Paris but they were turned back and on their return drove into an adventure that changed the whole course of their lives.

Stopping at a little roadside inn for a meal they were told by the innkeeper that an English officer was there in hiding. Mrs. Shiber and Kitty packed him into the luggage compartment of their car, successfully eluded Nazi patrols and kept him under cover in their Parish apartment until he was able to escape from the country.

"That was the beginning of the first 'Parish Underground.' From that time on Mrs. Shiber's life was a constant battle of wits against Gestapo agents, a thrilling succession of adventures in which she and her friend, with the aid of a young French priest, were able to start scores of British soldiers on the way to freedom. The story of the way the trio worked and how they eluded the Nazi agents is one that holds the reader spellbound."

At the conclusion of the program, the hostesses served refreshments to the following members: Mrs. Stanley B. Archibald, Mrs. F. W. Dawson, Mrs. H. V. Collins, Mrs. A. R. Doughty, Mrs. J. T. Eubank, Mrs. C. E. Koonce, Mrs. V. S. Garnett, Mrs. F. W. Hornberger, Mrs. W. E. Sandel, Mrs. T. H. Scott, Mrs. J. N. Riddle, Mrs. E. W. Sartain and Mrs. Paul T. Wright.

Mrs. W. J. Hanrahan and son Billy of Belleville, N. J., are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McCoy, DeSiard road.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Biggers and children of Washington, D. C., were recent guests in the home of Mr. Biggers' sisters, Mrs. T. V. Simmons and Mrs. W. F. Hornberger. Mr. Biggers is chief paving engineer for the U. S. government airports for the entire United States. He will be sent to England and Sweden in the near future as consultant engineer in this same field.

Public Invited To Visit The Library

National Book Week Observed At Ouachita Parish Public Library

The twenty-sixth annual observance of Book week will be celebrated this week from November 12-18. The theme for this year's Book week, "United Through Books," has never been more timely or more needed, and every librarian is eager and proud to further this slogan to the greatest possible extent.

If we can build the kind of world we want, it will surely be a united world. As we look longingly toward peace, we can do much toward unity by especially giving our young readers a better understanding and appreciation of their neighbors and children, of whatever race or creed, living on other parts of the globe.

The first National Book Week was held in America in 1919 and has continued to be one of the most popular special weeks ever since. In the beginning the emphasis was on children's books and the week was known as Children's Book Week, but like other celebrations for children, it has proved so popular that grown-ups claim it too. Now, Book Week emphasizes good books for all Americans. So here is Book Week—with books for everyone!

One of the chief purposes of Book Week is to arouse public enthusiasm and energies which will extend throughout the year. Another value is to encourage love of books and reading in boys and girls. With such love of books it is hoped that ownership and companship of them may play its role in the development and maintenance of the family.

If children see nothing but comic books or cheap books which are devoid of worth in either writing or illustration, that is what they will like. On the other hand, if they are given books into which writers and artists have poured the best of their art, then indeed they are building the future with books.

Miss Frances Michie, librarian, and other staff members of the public libraries in Monroe and West Monroe extend special invitation to the general public to visit the libraries this week. Boys and girls are particularly urged to see the attractive display of new juvenile titles.

For a better understanding of the Allied nations, these juvenile titles are recommended: "Susan Who Lives in Australia", McIntyre; "The Land of the Russian People", Nazaroff; "Walkabout Down Under", Kay S. Foote; "Mediterranean Spotlights", Gatti; "Three Boys of Old Russia", Helen Acker; "Peoples of the USSR", Anha Strong; "China-Country of Contrasts", Nourse; and "The Dragon Fish", Pearl Buck.

About the armed forces: "Uncle Sam's Marines", Avison; "Shipmates in White", Jean Miller; "Our Marines", Crump; "Brave Ships of World War II", Joseph Leeming; "Penny and Pam, Nurse and Cadet", Dorothy Deming; "Sally, Army Dietition", Worthington; "Bomber Pilot", Harkins; "Pilots All," Felsen; "Nancy Naylor, Flight Nurse", Lansing; "Gen. Ike Eisenhower", Lovelace; and "Overseas with the Air Transport Command", Lewis Theiss.

Animal stories are always popular, and some of the attractive ones on display are: "Gordon, the Goat", Munro Leaf; "Horses", Timothy Hay; "The Bountiful Cow," Ozaja; "Yussu the Ostrich", Kelen; "Roxidy Meets the Circus", Mabel Hill; "Belinda the Mouse", Helen Sewell; "Twin Colts", Inez Hogan; "Delcie and Her Donkey", Beckholt; and "The Return of Silver Chief", Jack O'Brien.

New mysteries which will appeal to all high school students include: "The Green Turtle Mystery", Ellery Queen Jr.; "The Secret of the Closed Gate", Leighton; "Secret Spring", Jacobs; "Uninvited Treasure," Charles Muller; "Secret of Wildcat Cave", Chapman.

SERGEANT AND MRS. SHEPHERD

The marriage of Sgt. and Mrs. Norman H. Shepherd took place last month at the Baptist parsonage. Mrs. Shepherd is the former Miss Mary Ellen Reagan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Reagan.

Miss Carolyn Watts Will Wed This Month

Announcement Made Of The Engagement Of Miss Watts And Lt. Joseph Galinsky

Enlisting widespread interest is the announcement made today by Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Watts, of West Monroe, of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Willie Carolyn, to Lt. Joe J. Galinsky, United States Army Air Force, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Galinsky, of Shreveport and New Orleans.

The wedding will be solemnized Sunday afternoon, November 15, at five o'clock in the home of the bride's parents, 213 N. Sixth street, with only members of both families and close friends attending. Mr. and Mrs. Watts will hold open house from six to eight o'clock for the many friends which the couple has made here.

Miss Watts, who is a charming member of the college group, is now attending Louisiana State University where she is majoring in speech. Prior to her entering the University, she was enrolled at Northeast Junior College where she made an enviable scholastic record and gained recognition for her participation in extra-curricular activities.

With her principal interest in dramatics, she gave fine performances in several major productions of the speech department, served as president of the Wig and Mask Club, speech organization, and was a member of the Purple Jackets, Pai Theta Kappa, national junior college honor society, Delta Psi Omega, national honor dramatic fraternity, and the staff of the college newspaper, Pow Wow. She held the special honor of being named one of the ten "Big Shots," chosen annually by the student body.

Lieutenant Galinsky is a graduate of Byrd High School and St. Anselms Academy, New Hampshire, Mass. He entered the Air Corps and received his commission at Selman Field. He recently returned to the United States after completing thirty missions in the European theater of war.

Lieutenant Galinsky was awarded the Purple Heart and the Oak Leaf Cluster. After convalescing from wounds, he was assigned to ferry transport work in Europe. He will be stationed in Baton Rouge for a short time, after which he will report to an air base in Florida.

Prominent Wedding Of Interest Here Occurs In Chicago

A wedding of interest to friends was that of Mrs. Elizabeth Leist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Simmons of this city and Mr. Charles E. Zimmerman of Chicago, Ill., Saturday, October 21, at the First Methodist Church at high noon with Dr. Charles Ray Goff, officiating.

The bride wore a distinctive blue wool model with brown accessories and corsage of orchids. Mrs. Zimmerman had, as her matron of honor, her sister, Mrs. Noble Guy Larsen, Mr. Zimmerman was attended by Mr. Larsen. The bride, formerly of this city is well-known in club, business, social, and church circles.

The groom is a prominent business man of Chicago. He is a member of the Illinois Manufacturing Association and the South Shore Country Club.

Immediately following the wedding, a sumptuous luncheon was held in the Pump Room of the Ambassador Hotel, for members of the wedding party. Due to vital war contracts at Mr. Zimmerman's factories, the couple postponed their honeymoon until a later date at which time they will be guests at the Ritz-Carleton Hotel in New York. They are now at home to their friends in their apartment at 219 Lake Shore drive, Chicago. Among various social courtesies extended the bride and groom, was a dinner party given in their honor by the governor of Illinois.

Girls Reserve Clubs' Activities

One of the important events in Girl Reserve activities was the organization of the Inter-Club Council of Girl Reserves, a council which is composed of a representative from each club, the president and vice-president of each club, and the 12 conference delegates. At this first meeting Miss Sharp, "Y" secretary, read the devotional. The following officers were elected: President, Jean Smith; vice-president, Sally Sue Johnson; secretary, Marjorie McCarty; treasurer, Betty Sisson; reporter, Evelyn Cannaway; editor of G. R. Paper, Beatrice Cretney. The following girls are members of the council: Jean Smith, Sally Sue Johnson, Marjorie McCarty, Betty Sisson, Evelyn Gannaway, Beatrice Cretney, Gwenn Kidd, Dorothy Anne Mitchell, Mary Sue Smith, Gene Gentry, Sue Hunt, Louise Russ, Carolyn Swain, Bettie Jo Camp Mary Elle Hearne, Dorothy Joe Jones, Virginia DeFreese, Kathryn Oliphant, Mary Nell Maxwell, Nina Maddux, Emojean Mathews, Joyce Toler, Billie Frantom, Carolyn Bagwell, Edwina Albritton, Nancy Johnson, Jane Moore, Betty Sue Scott, Lila Hampton, Anne Bower, Evelyn Gochenour, and Gwenn Walker. Plans for the programs and activities of the clubs were discussed. The plans for the annual Girl Reserve week, Go-to-Church Sunday, and the recognition ceremonial were discussed. The girls decided that the council would ponsor a G. R. Newspaper again and have an all-Girl Reserve program as they had last year.

Carolyn Bagwell, program chairman for the Jolly Y Janes Club of the Girl Reserves, continues to plan most interesting and enjoyable programs for the group which meets on Monday. Geraldine Jones, worship chairman, has a devotional at each meeting. One Monday afternoon the girls folded the sheets of Christmas seals for the T. B. Christmas Seal Sale. Last Monday the club met for a social meeting at the recreation center on South Grand. The girls enjoyed playing the various games and dancing at the center. Delicious refreshments were served by the social committee, Marna Hynum as chairman of this committee. The officers of this club are: Adviser, Mrs. C. McCoy; president, Billie Frantom; vice-president, Carolyn Bagwell; secretary, Kittie McCoy; treasurer, Dorothy Kramer; reporter, Jean Bower; council representative, Edwina Albritton.

The Triads Club of the Girl Reserves has been having some interesting programs and activities. Miss Beatrice Wright, charity hospital staff, talked to the group on the charity hospital and discussed some of the things the girls could do. On Saturday morning, November 4, the girls visited charity hospital and took money for the "Kitty Fund," books, checkers and other games, "funny books," and puzzles to the patients at the hospital. On Tuesday afternoon, October 31st, the club enjoyed having Mrs. Hugh Glasgow as the guest speaker. Mrs. Glasgow gave a most helpful and delightful talk on "Charm and Personality." Tuesday afternoon, November 7, the club discussed plans for the next meeting, for ordering Girl Reserve pins and jackets, and other activities which the club is interested in. Jo Christman, worship chairman, was in charge of the devotional. The officers of the club are: Adviser, Mrs. Jesse Scott, president, Nancy Johnson, vice-president, Jane Moore, secretary, Carol Jean Williamson; treasurer, Pat Ann Rector, reporter, Anne Milburn; council representative, Betty Sue Scott; assistant adviser, Gwenn Walker.

The Y-Ettes Club of the Girl Reserves meets on Tuesday with Mary Nell Maxwell, as president of the club, presiding at the meetings. This club has had interesting discussions and at their last meeting assisted in folding the Christmas seals for the T. B. Association. Miss Mary Bennett is adviser for the group. Other officers of the club are: Sally Haynes, Billie Hamilton, and Nina Madeux.

The Kumjoyous Club of the Girl Reserves meets on Wednesday afternoon. Virginia DeFreese, program chairman, has been having some most interesting and enjoyable programs and discussions. Gwenn Kidd, worship chairman, is in charge of the devotional. Officers of the club are: Adviser, Miss Mary Virginia Hathorn, Dorothy Jo Jones, Virginia DeFreese, Marguerite Aston, Maxine Sechler, Jane Archibald, and Kathryn Oliphant.

The Tri-Y Club of Girl Reserves, with the following officers: Miss Mary Lea George, adviser; Emojean Mathews, Evelyn Gannaway, Dorothy Anne Mitchell, Faye Hynum, Betty Sisson, Joyce Toler, meets on Wednesday afternoon. Mary Cloud, worship chairman, is in charge of the devotionals for the meetings. At the last meeting Miss Ada Bess Hart of Northeast Junior College gave a most enjoyable and practical talk on "Boy and Girl Relationships."

The Blue Triangle Club meets on Friday afternoon. The officers of the club are: "Adviser, Miss Dorothy Grayson; assistant adviser, Miss Winifred McWhorter; Carolyn Swain, Bettie Jo Camp, Mona Cleveland, Mary Jo Watson, Jane Ewing, and Mary Ella Hearne.

The Blue Circle Club of Girl Reserves is the club for girls in the seventh and sixth grades of school. This club has had some most interesting activities and programs. The group has drawn up a club constitution; has taken cookies to the USO; and has had a most enjoyable party for "new members." Officers for the club are: Adviser, Miss Geneve Castles; assistant adviser, Beatrice Cretney; Lila Hampton, Anne Bower, Mary Serex, Beverly Vollman, Georgia Vollman, and Evelyn Gochenour.

Girl Reserves are the younger members of the Young Women's Christian Association, one of the agencies sponsored and supported by the Twin City Community Chest.

Mrs. Hatch Holds Open Club Forum

Mrs. C. Noble Hatch, president of the fifth district Federated Women's clubs addressed club members of Jonesville, Ferriday, Alto and Wisner in a recent meeting in the home of Mrs. A. J. Ensminger. Miss Pearl LeFevre, chairman of nutrition and consumer problems of the fifth district and state chairman of agriculture, met with the club women at this time.

Mrs. Hatch held an open forum on the nine departments of a Federated club. She stressed the need for a well informed one which studies the departments the Federation has given them. She said any one of the nine departments offers ample material for an interesting program.

The question was asked regarding the points clubs are graded on. Mrs. Hatch stated that points are won by entering the year book in the contest, preparing and entering the scrap book contest and contributing to art fund.

The value of the club magazine, "The Club Woman" was stressed.

The question of the difference in Class A and Class B clubs was raised. Mrs. Hatch said, "If a club is active in all departments of the club it is a Class A club." Class B clubs only have one objective such as "Fine Arts."

The importance of the Press and Publicity committee was discussed.

Mrs. Hatch introduced Miss LeFevre who brought an interesting message.

Those enjoying the meeting were: Mrs. C. Noble Hatch, Alto; Miss Pearl Le Fevre, Rayville; Mrs. J. A. Flores, Mrs. J. A. Guss, Mrs. F. U. Fairbanks, Mrs. Barney Atkins, Mrs. C. L. Wurster, Mrs. G. H. Moore, Mrs. C. T. Caskey, Jonesville; Mrs. A. J. Hodges, Mrs: J. M. Johnson, Mrs. Sidney Gray, Mrs. S. M. Maxwell, Ferriday; Mrs. J. G. Mitchell, Mrs. J. N. Risher, Mrs. E. Asa Kiper, Mrs. A. J. Ensminger and Mrs. Donn Knotts, Wisner.

Miss Harrison Weds Lt. Charles Johnson

Impressive Ceremony Takes Place At The First Baptist Church In This City

In a ceremony characterized by beauty and simplicity Miss Addye Lee Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Harrison of Fairbanks, La., became the bride of Lieutenant Charles Robert Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Johnson of Paragould, Ark., at the First Baptist church, this city, on Thursday, November 9 at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. The pastor, Reverend L. T. Hastings, officiated in the presence of a large concourse of friends and members of the immediate families.

Beautiful white chrysanthemums overflowing from wide, flaring baskets were silhoutted against a background palms and ferns with myriad white tapers burning in their midst. The lighting of the tapers was an impressive feature of the ceremony.

A nuptial concert was rendered by Rev. E. A. Alexander. The soloist, Mrs. A. R. Doughty sang in lovely fashion, "Sweet Mystery Of Life," and "Because".

Miss Joycelyn Wall, maid of honor, wore a becoming Queen Anne model of white net over white satin and carried an arm bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

The bridegroom was attended by his father.

The bride, walking alterward on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage, wore the traditional ivory satin wedding gown fashioned with a tight fitting bodice and transparent yoke of mousseline edged with seed pearls. The skirt, long and full ended in a court train. Her veil of illusion was caught to the head with a cap of pearls. She carried an arm bouquet of white chrysanthemums and white orchids.

"Ave Maria" was rendered during the ceremony by the organist.

A reception, following the ceremony was held in the church parlors, banked with dahlias in all the pastel colors.

The bride's table was overlaid with handsome lace and centrally adorned with a beautifully embossed wedding cake. Individual wedding cakes and iced frappe was served.

The bride changed her wedding gown for a smart tailleur of gold colored wool with brown accessories and a corsage of orchids.

Following a honeymoon in New Orleans the young couple will be at home in this city where Lt. Johnson is stationed at Selman Field.

The bride is a graduate of Ouachita Parish high school and Louisiana Tech and is a member of Beta Delta sorority.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Paragould high school and Arkansas Tech, Russelville, Ark. He is a pilot in the Army Air Corps.

Is There A Life Beyond The Grave?

A strange man in Los Angeles known as "The Voice of Two Worlds" reveals the story of a remarkable system that often leads to almost unbelievable improvement in power of mind achievement of brilliant business and professional success and new happiness. Many report improvement in health. Others tell of increased bodily strength, magnetic personality, courage and poise.

The man, a well-known explorer and geographer, tells how he found these strange methods in far-off and mysterious Tibet, often called the land of miracles by the few travelers permitted to visit it. He discusses how he learned the race wisdom and long hidden practices discovered that many people have developed powers of mind and body which make them almost masters of fate. He explains that these powers are latent in most of us and that anyone can develop them by following a few simple rules. Many people have been astounded at the results obtained.

He maintains that man, instead of being limited to a few thousand memories, has within his mind the power of a thousand men. He says that we can be what we will to be. He states that this amazing kind of mind power, when awakened, can make man capable of surprising achievements, from the prolonging of youth to success in many fields. To that eternal question, "Is There a Life Beyond the Grave?" he answers in astounding

Miss Poole Weds Lt. S.G. Mitchell

Wedding Of Young Couple Takes Place At Sterlington Methodist Church

A wedding of sincere interest took place at the First Baptist Church, Sterlington, La., when Miss Virginia Poole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Poole, Sterlington, became the bride of Lt. Stanley G. Mitchell Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley G. Mitchell of El Dorado, Ark. Rev. H. L. Sampson officiated in an impressive double wedding ring ceremony.

The church was beautifully decorated with pink roses and fern. Numerous cathedral candles in tall white candelabra supplied the only light for the wedding ceremony. Prenuptial music was rendered by Mrs. L. H. Burns, of Sterlington, during which the candles were lighted by Ann West and Mary Louise Moncrief. Miss Marguerite Bailey sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Mrs. Burns.

The maid of honor, Miss Jan Young, wore a fuschia crepe model with light blue accessories and a corsage of white gardenias.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely two piece model of aqua crepe with brown accessories. Her corsage was of orchids.

Lieutenant Mitchell was attended by Lt. Raymond W. Zurcher, Selman Field. The ushers were Lt. A. C. Swain and Lieutenant Barkas.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents in Sterlington. The bride's table in the dining room was developed in white and green with the three-tiered wedding cake, beautifully embossed, the central decor. Individual wedding cakes and iced fruit frappe were served by Miss Treva Phelps and Miss Mary Elizabeth Hammonds.

The bride is a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School and attended Henderson State Teachers College, Arkadelphia, Ark. She is associated with the Southern Carbon Company. The groom is a graduate of El Dorado High School and attended Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, Ruston, La.

Out of town guests were the groom's parents and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley G. Mitchell, Lawrence Mitchell, and Pvt. Billy McKinley of El Dorado; Mrs. C. H. Young, Mrs. Allen West, Mrs. W. H. Baker and Mrs. Sam Collins of Monroe.

Nuptial Event Of Interest Here

Of interest to friends is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Helen Louise McCarthy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loyal H. McCarthy and Sgt. James Stuart Richman, son of Mrs. James Richman of Monroe, La., in the home of her parents, 3052 Northeast 66th avenue, Portland, Ore. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Ray S. Dunn.

Due to the unexpected furlough of Sergeant Richman, who was stationed in the southwest Pacific, the ceremony was an informal affair with the reception in the home of bride's parents. Miss Louise Cecil, the bride's aunt, and Mrs. Arthur Strom, Mrs. Alfred Schmidt, Mrs. Hilton Thurman, Mrs. Robert Darst, Miss Fern Smith and Miss Virginia Schneringer, assisted in the courtesies.

The bride wore a white gabardine model trimmed with gold braid and gold buttons and a hat of matching gold color with the white veil. She wore a corsage of purple orchids.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Oregon and a member of the Delta Delta Delta sorority. She was employed by the Bank of California in Portland before her marriage. Technical Sergeant Richman is an aerial engineer and waist gunner with the Seventh air force. He is the son of Mrs. James D. Richman of this city. He was employed by the Missouri Pacific before entering the armed forces.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Fuhrer of Chicago, Illinois announce the arrival of their second son, Jack Selig Fuhrer, November 1st. The baby is named in honor of Mrs. Fuhrer's brother, 1st Lt. E. Jack Selig Jr. Mrs. E. Jack Selig, the maternal grandmother is in Chicago making the acquaintance of her new grandson.

American Women Subject Of Program

Place Women Will Occupy In The Post-War World Discussed By A. A. U. W.

"American Women in the Post-War World" was the provocative subject of a symposium featured at a recent meeting of the Monroe branch of American Association of University Women at the Recreation Center. Mrs. D. H. Martin, chairman of the committee on economic and legal status of women, introduced this phase of the program and presented the speakers, Mrs. Galvin Walker, Mrs. W. R. Hammond, Mrs. Howard King and Mrs. E. B. Shanks.

Mrs. Martin pointed out that women have, in the past few years, entered every field of business and industry. When peace comes the problems confronting these women and their employers will be tremendous, she asserted. With this fact to face, the Newsweek Club bureau of New York asked 12 leaders in business, government and labor relations to give their views on role that women will play in business and industry after the war.

Local brunch speakers forming the symposium gave interesting highlights gleaned from theories contributed through interviews gained with four leaders: Mary Anderson, head of the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor; Mrs. T. Norton, congresswoman from New Jersey, who now is chairman of the House committee on labor; Eric Johnston, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States' and Elizabeth Hawes, clothing designer, who presently is director of women's activities of the United Automobile Workers.

Mary Andedson concludes that the Women's Bureau is giving specific study of post-war plans and possible developments for women workers. The bureau realizes that it is imperative not only to guarantee full employment opportunities for women in the reconstruction period and to prevent unfair discrimination against them, but to dovetail such questions with the post-war program that will be evolved for men.

Congresswoman Mary Norton believes that one of the first things that must be done is to enact legislation in Congress to grant equal pay for equal work. Women would then be regarded as workers, now women, she asserts.

"We must face the fact that many doors open to women in wartime will be closed when war ends; that men and women returning from war must receive first consideration in filling jobs. Then men and women should be held in their jobs because of ability to fill the jobs, not because of sex—and they should be paid accordingly."

Eric Johnston is convinced that we shall have to make up shortages in many things to which we have become accustomed, and we shall have the opportunity of putting to use many of the discoveries made in the laboratories of war. The problem which we shall face is not one of spreading employment to make available jobs go as far as possible but of expanding production to create more jobs. "If that is done," he concludes, "we may be assured that there will be enough work to provide employment for women as well as men."

Elizabeth Hawes is confident that women will always be in industry and business. Their specific problem is one of arranging to be more effective, more efficient in their jobs. She assures us that the post-war world can readily make provisions to care for children so that the mother of the pre-school-age child can still find it practical to work in industry.

A special feature of the evening was the presentation of a gift from the local branch to Mrs. C. C. Colvert, who had filled so capably the position of state president of the A. A. U. W. as well as that of the president of the Monroe branch a few years ago. Miss Mary Clay, president of the local unit, presented Miss Kate Perkins, who spoke of the fine qualities which Mrs. Colvert possesses, and of her place of leadership in the community. She referred to her splendid spirit of cooperation, her unusual ability to make friends, and her willingness to serve in any capacity when the job was needed to be done. The gift, comprising silver cocktail forks in Mrs. Colvert's pattern, was presented by Miss Perkins as a token of the esteem which members of the A. A. U. W held for the former state president who recently moved from Monroe to make her home in Austin, Texas, where her husband, Dr. Colvert accepted a position with the University of Texas.

Hostesses for the evening were Miss Juanita Porter, Miss Carrie Dee Drew, Miss Zelda Moss and Mrs. Willis Williams.

Atheneum club members were delightfully entertained in the home of Mrs. John S. Barr, Saturday afternoon with Mrs. W. C. Curry co-hostess.

Blue ageratum, pink roses and yellow chrysanthemums, in lovely arrangement, furnished the decorative background.

The club president, Mrs. Archie L. Dickerson, presided. The meeting was opened with the group reciting the American Creed.

During the business period, Mrs. C. C. Miller, one of the organizers of the club, was presented with a gift as a token of her outstanding club activities. The club expressed regret over her departure for New Orleans where she will reside in the future.

Mrs. D. L. Nicol, acting program chairman, introduced Mrs. B. Butler who read an interesting paper on "Education," and Mrs. Walter C. Minnear who reviewed Robert H. Hutchins' book on "Education For Freedom." Mrs. Nicol offered timely comments on the same subject.

The dining table, overlaid with a crisp linen and centered with a bowl of yellow chrysanthemums and ageratum, held silver trays of open face sandwiches and confections. Mrs. S. D. Kennedy presided over the coffee service at one end of the table.

Present were Mesdames A. L. Dickerson, Agness Dickerson, Fred M. Grant, S. D. Kennedy, W. C. Minnear, D. L. Nicol, B. Butler, the hostesses and three guests, Mrs. John F. McCormick, Mrs. Frances Phillips and Mrs. Chester Monoghan.

ARMY HANDS NOTRE DAME ITS WORST BEATING, 59-0

Cadets Score Three Times In First Period To Wallop Irish; Ramblers Fall To Pieces Before Devastating Army Attack

By Harold Claassen

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Army, kept from the victory column for 13 years by Notre Dame, unleashed all its pent-up fury today and played patty-cake on the Irish goal line while rambling to a 59 to 0 triumph—worst defeat ever suffered by Notre Dame.

Seldom, if ever, has any team produced points with the fury of the Cadets.

Notre Dame, apparently set to stop the slam-bang thrusts of Felix (Doc) Blanchard, 205-pound fullback, was almost driven out of Yankee stadium by the speed of Glenn Davis, Max Minor, Doug Kenna, Dale Hall and a horde of other backs.

Blanchard, employed primarily as a decoy in the Army attack, played a sensational game, bursting half the eardrums of the 74,437 spectators in the third period with a block that made possible Minor's 61-yard scoring return of a punt.

In the second canto he churned his way inside the Notre Dame 20-yard line with such devastating force that Headlinesman Dave Reese suffered a dislocated left elbow and was unable to continue.

Blanchard, squirming for that extra yard, drove ahead, flattening half the Notre Dame team. Reese, unable to get out of the way, was knocked down and the entire left side of the Irish line as well as Blanchard and his interferers fell on him.

The defeat was the worst ever suffered by Notre Dame, surpassing the 58 to 0 defeat handed the South Bend Ramblers by Wisconsin in 1904. The poorest showing by Notre Dame in the past 25 years was the 27 to 0 shellacking by Army in 1925—also Knute Rockne's worst defeat.

Army's triumph—amazing in its easiness—kept the Cadets in the unbeaten list with seven straight wins. It was the second straight loss by the Irish who were spilled a week ago by Navy, 32 to 13. It also was the first time Notre Dame ever has lost to both service teams the same season.

Army hadn't scored on the Indiana eleven since 1938 but the Cadets rectified that deficiency the first time they got their hands on the ball. Kenna skirted his own right end for the final six yards to climax a 45-yard march.

Two more tallies were tacked on the scoreboard the first period, Kenna setting up the first of them by intercepting one of Boley Dancewicz's tosses on the Irish 41 and toting it 15 yards before being stopped. On the next play Minor broke over his left tackle for the score.

A 35-yard Kenna to Ed Rafalko pass was the scoring play for the next marker which followed Blanchard's interception of Bob Kelly's attempted forward.

Only seconds after the second period got underway Davis grabbed another Notre Dame aerial and lugged it 39 yards to the Irish seven from where he scored on the next formation. A 34-yard punt return, by Kenna, set up by a resounding block by Dewitt Coulter, made possible the final tally of the half by Davis.

It wasn't until the count had mounted to 33 to 0 against them that the Irish registered their first first down, getting two in succession on spot passes by Dancewicz.

Minor's long run and a Kenna to Dick Pitzer pass produced scores in the third period but the two most spectacular counters were reserved for the final canto.

Davis shot 54 yards for the first but the counter credited to sub Tackle Harold Tavzel that finished the day's work got the biggest laugh. Notre Dame, making a desperate effort to score, had Joe Gasparella trying to pass from behind his own goal. Tavzel, six feet tall, grabbed the fore a sun-soaked homecoming day ball and fell to the ground for a touchdown and then dashed out onto the field with his hands above his head in a fighter's handclasp to the cheers of the spectators.

LOUIS OUT TO COLLECT WHEN HE'S ON FURLOUGH

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11.—(AP)—S. Sgt. Joe Louis had a straightforward answer for the reporter who asked him how he got in the wrestling refereeing business after his appearance here last night.

"Wanna make money, like most people," he said. "Got a furlough, so I said OK for a straight guarantee of 35 per cent of the game."

At 35 per cent, last night's work would have netted him about $1,750.

SELMAN PREPARES FOR CAGE SEASON

Coach Says Squad To Be One Of Best Basketball Clubs In South

Now in their third week of practice workouts at Selman Field, the Cyclone service quintet, under the direction of Coach Fred Heinlen of the physical training department, is fast ironing out the wrinkles in preparation for the start of the 1944-45 hoop season Dec. 2 when the local squad meets a team from Foster General Hospital in Monroe.

From all indications the squad, according to the number of men who are turning out nightly for practice in the post gymnasium at the field, is going to whip into shape another top scoring hoop team.

That interest on the part of the players is staying at an all time high, the 30 men who started with the club are still pounding the floor hustling for the opener of the season.

This week Coach Heinlen said, "The present Cyclone team will undoubtedly make their name known and feared throughout the Southland if they continue to show the spirit and fight they now have the rest of the season.

"Although we are not through with the training fundamentals in our practice workouts, from here on in the squad will be moving into more and more team practices and working as a team instead of individually.

"The quintet is at the point now where they must think of team offense and forget the individual starring ability."

There are several men who are looking unusually good in these practice workouts at Selman Field. In addition to the regulars from last year, the new men who look as if they will give the Cyclone hoop squad a lot of help are Don Martin, Claude Corbitt, Jack Dunlap, Joe Kileovne, Bux Mangum, Ed Wicker, Larry Conques, Fred Boas and James Mooney.

The quintet of Mangum, Conques, Wicker, Mooney and Boas are among the tallest of the trainees out for practice and will be watched especially close by the Selman coaches as to their value to the ball club by reason of their playing ability teamed with their height. The five will average 6 feet one inch.

On the other hand, Corbitt, Dunlap and Kileovne are little men so far as basketball players go, but they are fast.

No secret is made of the fact that Don Martin and Mal McCarty will see plenty of action as both men are fast building a stellar rep for themselves on the basketball floor.

Still shooting for a total of 26 games, the Cyclones passed the 17 mark this week with the addition of two games with Keesler Field, two with Mississippi Ordnance plant and one with Gulfport Naval Training station.

SOUTHEASTERN GROUP TO MEET ON DEC. 8-9

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 11.—(AP)—W. D. Funkhouser, secretary of the Southeastern conference, today announced that the annual meeting of the group will be held in Birmingham, December 8-9.

In notices sent to the members, Funkhouser said that proposed amendments to the constitution and by-laws should be in his hands by November 16 in order to allow for the required three weeks notification of other members.

Regarding the recommendations adopted by the conference's postwar planning committee at the August meeting in Birmingham, Funkhouser advised that each of the proposals would have to be sponsored by some member institution.

The proposals, most of which dealt with athletic policies, call for a limited number of athletic scholarships, signed agreements between the schools and prospective students, limited financial aid to students registered under the "G-I bill of rights," abolition of freshmen athletic competition, and matters dealing with administration of the conference rules.

The suggested amendments, which provoked widespread comment and debate, are to be taken up actually at the annual session for final action.

ORLEANS TEAM WINS VOLLEYBALL CROWN

CAMP LIVINGSTON, La., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Favored Transportation OCS of New Orleans rallied this afternoon to win the Louisiana District Eighth Service Command Volleyball championship from Jackson Barracks, the team which was "eliminated" yesterday by error. The OCS sextet finally pulled through 15-11, 10-15, 15-9.

Jackson came back against the OCS reserves in the second game to win easily and then staved off through the early stages of the match game against the champs first stringers. Running up a 5-2 lead before the transport boys got rolling and rang up seven consecutive points to take a lead they held to the end.

Jackson Barracks drew a bye in the fourth round to gain the semi-finals this morning. They defeated Camp Livingston, 15-6, 14-16, 15-12, to earn the right to meet OCS for the title.

NAVY UNDER WRAPS IN BEATING CORNELL, 48-0

BALTIMORE, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Playing strictly under wraps and without effort to pile up a score, Navy's powerful midshipmen had little more than a warm-up today as they smothered Cornell's game but helpless big red team 48-0. Navy's first stringers saw but a few minutes of action giving away to substitutes who streamed onto the field.

HEELS, INDIANS TIE

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Nov. 11.—(AP)—North Carolina and William & Mary played a scoreless tie in a Southern conference game here today marked by fumbles and intercepted passes. The Indians were on the North Carolina three-yard line as the game ended.

TECH'S LAST-HALF OFFENSE SMOTHERS TULANE, 34 TO 7

Running Of Bowen And Passing Of Broyles Gives Yellow Jackets Easy Victory And Possible Bowl Bid

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Combining the brilliant running of Allen "Dinky" Bowen and the accurate passing of Frank Broyles, Georgia Tech made another bid for its third straight bowl invitation by overwhelming a versatile Tulane eleven today, 34-7.

Bowen, with long punt returns and sizeable scrimmage runs, set up most of the scores. Broyles threw four strikes, two to George Matthews, good for touchdowns. Tex Ritter, with a 44-yard run, added the final touchdown in the fourth period, after Charles Murdock and Billy Williams had also gathered in scoring passes from Broyles.

Billy "Dub" Jones, a triple threat halfback, put Tulane out in front in the first four minutes, as the Greenies scored in eight plays, six of them by Jones, including a 29-yard run on the first play of the game. He plunged through from the one and then kicked the extra point.

Tech, after a 69-yard drive by Tulane fizzled out at the Tech one, came back with several mild threats but wasn't able to score until the second period.

Bowen returned Harry Robinson's punt 20 yards to the Tech 45 and the Engineers were never headed. Broyles passed 30 yards to Charles Murdock at end, to the Tulane 9. A penalty put the ball on the four, but three smacks at the line netted only two yards.

On fourth down, Broyles passed to Matthews for the score, Bowen's placement went wide and the half ended with Tulane ahead, 7-6.

Coming back in the third period, the Ramblin' Wreck got up steam after several false starts and scored twice in rapid succession.

Ending a 46-yard drive, which featured several fine runs by Bowen, Broyles passed 14 yards to Billy Williams, who made a circus catch between two defenders. Bowen's placement put Tech ahead 13-7 and they were never headed. The next score came on a 10-yard pass from Broyles to Murdock, ending a 35-yard drive. Bowen's placement made it 20-7.

Tech scored twice more in the final period, the first ending an 80-yard drive with Matthews taking a 49-yard pass from Broyles. Starting at their own 20, Tech again covered 80 yards, the final 44 being on Ritter's broken field dash. Bowen added the placement for the fourth time, making the final score 34-7.

MICHIGAN WALLOPS ILLINOIS, 14 TO 0

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Stopping Illinois' speedster left halfback, Claude (Buddy) Young, except for a pair of midfield sprints in the first period, Michigan defeated Illinois, 14 to 0, for its fifth straight football victory today before a crowd of 42,200 fans.

The Wolverines stuck to the ground in marching 54 yards in seven plays for their first touchdown less than four minutes after receiving the opening kickoff. Fullback Don Lund carried it over from the four-yard line and Quarterback Joe Ponsetto converted.

Don Greenwood's fumble trying to receive a Michigan punt set up the Wolverines' other tally in the final period. Center Harold Watts gathered in the ball on the Illinois 31 and on the ninth play Halfback Jack Weisenberg swept the Illini right end to score from the two. Ponsetto converted his eighth straight point after touchdown.

Young the national collegiate sprint champion, gained 81 yards for the day, 57 yards of it on the first four times he carried the ball. After that he was smothered consistently though Michigan second defense men made many of the tackles.

Neither team completed a pass all afternoon, and only 10 were attempted, seven by Illinois and three by the Wolverines. Michigan gained 231 yards rushing to Illinois' 159 and therein lies the story.

Illinois' only scoring threat came in the dying seconds of the first period when Don Greenwood and Eddie Bray sparked a drive to the Wolverine one-foot line before Greenwood fumbled trying to take the ball from Quarterback Bill Borkovich and Watts of Michigan recovered on the two.

After that scoring chance was lost Illinois never again advanced beyond Michigan's 28-yard line.

DARTMOUTH WHIPPED

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Stan Weiner, formerly of Yale and Tommy Dorsey, former Brown halfback, led the Coast Guard Academy to a decisive 19-0 victory over Dartmouth. Both teams dissipated scoring chances in the first period, and it was not until the last minute of the half that a Weiner to Reed pass brought the Cadets their first score.

MAROONS SHADE AUBURN, 26 TO 21

Mississippi State Pushed To Beat Plainsmen; McWilliams Stars

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Mississippi State, driving on super power generated by All-America candidate Tom McWilliams, was none the less pushed to the limit today to down, 26-21, an Auburn team with a no-surrender complex.

Tom McWilliams, the Southeastern conference's leading scorer, added to his touchdown-making prestige by accounting for three of State's four scores. One of the mresulted from a 93-yard run and another represented a dash of 76 yards.

McWilliams' rival for top honors in a game studded with heroes was Curtis Kuykendall, Auburn's sweetpaint fleet halfback and ace passer. One of his running jaunts carried for 69 yards and a touchdown.

Auburn, its game seriously hampered by a dire shortage of replacement backs, completely outplayed the opposition during the first half and staged a game fourth quarter finish good for its final score.

Auburn tallied 17 first downs to 12 for State.

Kuykendall and Nolan Lang, another consistent ground gainer for Auburn set the stage for the first Tiger score early in the initial quarter with a series of line bucks that carried from Auburn's 39 to State's 1. Lang pushed over for the score and Bob Trapani converted.

State tied the count in the second on McWilliams' 76-yard sprint and M. T. Burress' conversion. Just three plays later Auburn went out front again when Kuykendall broke around end and traveled 69 yards for a score. Trapani kicked goal to make it Auburn 14, State 7.

YALE BLANKS BROWN

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Yale's line backer boys, B. J. Penn made a 44-yard run and the quarterback, George Lom, made a one-foot line buck for the only two touchdowns today as the Eli fourth team defeated Brown 13 to 0.

ALABAMA WHIPS OLE MISS, 34-6

Tide Rolls Up Three Touchdowns In First Period To Coast In

MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Alabama overpowered a fast and spirited University of Mississippi eleven here today to win a 34 to 6 victory in the first Southeastern Conference game in many years in this port city.

The victors, starting their second backfield, rolled up three quick touchdowns in the opening period on drives for 80, 63 and 47 yards respectively, but the Rebels rallied to score their touchdown in the second period and held the tide scoreless in the third before finally wilting in the closing quarter.

Alabama's line, especially in the opening period, had a wide margin and only sharp tackling by the Rebel backs kept the score from going much higher.

The Rebel touchdown, late in the second quarter, went 82 yards. Jerry Tibbier started it with a 33-yard sprint and then Johnnie Bruce connected with a 19 yard pass to James Conroy and another for 29 yards and a touchdown to Clyde Hooker.

After a scoreless third period which ended with Alabama on the Rebel 10, the Tide rushed over two more touchdowns in the final quarter. Johnny Hite hammered over with the first through a wide hole over the right side of his line, and Fred Grant counted the second to end a 52-yard drive. Hugh Morrow, after making good on his first four extra-point tries, sent this one wide and the game ended 34-6.

Alabama's great advantage in the line was reflected in the team's 565 yards on running plays as against 91 for the Rebels. Bruce's fine punting for an average of almost 43 yards and the all around good work of Hooker and Bernard Blackwell were the best performances for the losers.

Aside from their own scoring splurge, the Rebels got into Alabama territory only twice. The first of these opportunities came with the second half kickoff, when a 19-yard pass from Bruce to Hooker gave the Rebels first down at the Tide 45, and after Alabama held for downs, Jimmie Adkins fell on a fumble by Harry Gilmer at the Alabama 24.

This threat was ended on the next play, however, as Norwood Hodges spiked a pass from Bruce and got back to his 29.

In the final quarter, James Conroy intercepted the Alabama line for a first down and was almost over the goal again. Morrow passed from the Rebel 4 to Bill Erwin, who stepped back to goal, intercepted a pass from Don Bolton on the Alabama 46, and ran the ball all the way to the four before he was downed.

Harry Gilmer, Alabama's ace backfield star, a few minutes, but was on the game long enough to get one chance for 33 yards.

Lucky West, substitute Tide right halfback, ran 65 yards across the Mississippi goal in the second period, but a clipping penalty against Alabama halted the play.

Penalties were costly to both elevens from the kickoff with both quarters finding one for the other side in the middle and one for each side making the entire list.

Mississippi, in addition to its extra point attempts, booted one field goal, but missed on pass defense.

PENN ROMPS OVER LOU LITTLE'S LIONS, 35-7

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Pennsylvania spoiled Lou Little's return to his alma mater today by rolling on to a 35-7 margin as the Colonial Lions at Franklin Field in what amounted to a mere warmup for next week's test with Army.

Driving to five touchdowns in the first half and tossing in a safety for good measure, George Munger's red and blue machine took advantage of every lapse by the undermanned visitors and built up a score that the last two and a half minutes of play.

Graham tossed the leather for three touchdowns, carried the ball across himself for another and set up the fifth with his accurate heaving and his weaving running.

LIONS TO MEET BOLTON FRIDAY

Ouachita Ends Football Season Against Bears This Week-End

The Ouachita Parish High School Lions end their football season next Friday when they face the jinx of the Red River for the fourth time this year. The O. P. H. S. force tackles the strong Bolton Bears at Alexandria in their season final.

In other games on the banks of the Red River this year Coach George Riser's charges have been unable to score and have bowed in defeat by one-touchdown margins. First they went to Bossier City on the east bank of the river and lost to the Bearcats, 6 to 0.

Their next trip was to the west bank, to Shreveport, where they lost to the powerful Fair Park Indians, 7 to 0. In Shreveport again last Thursday night they dropped another close one to the Byrd Yellow Jackets.

Alexandria is quite some distance southeast of Shreveport but along the banks of that same stream.

Ouachita hasn't been able to whip the Bruins since 1938 when they turned the trick 20 to 12, and until then the locals had not been able to accomplish the feat since 1932 when Brooks Owen led the Lions to a 6-5 triumph and the year before 1931 it was Roland Bruns that paced them to P. H. S. charges in a 12-7 victory at Alexandria.

With the exception of Earl J. F. Trapp the Lions came out of the Byrd game in fairly good condition. Trapp suffered a dislocated shoulder that will bother him quite a bit today as Coach Riser inserted Billy Hargis, his regular center, was ever hurt in the pass on which the Jaguars scored their winning touchdown. Hargis, quarterback, and Little R. Ferguson, fullback, finished the game after the first quarter and played a terrific brand of football against the Byrd boys.

INDIANS TO MEET HINDS ON FRIDA

The Northeast Junior College dians tomorrow will begin prepa tions for another hard football ti tle here this week-end when t go up against the strong Hinds Jun College eleven, conquerer of Copi Lincoln, an outfit that shaded Tribe, 12-7, here Friday night.

Coach James L. Malone indica last night that extra hard worko would be on tap for Monday Tuesday.

Another Indian who has not b of service this year may also be ca into action against the invaders. is Charles Hammett, a Ferriday l

N. J. C. LOSES SIEVERS

Guy Sievers, the Monroe police sergeant who has been assistin Coach James L. Malone with th coaching duties at N. J. C. th season, saw the present team action for the last time Friday night. He leaves tomorrow fo service with the United State navy.

Sievers was a back on N. J. C teams of 1937 and 1940. He ha been coaching the backs.

who has been on the injured list most all season as the result of a injury suffered in pre-season pr tice.

Hammett is ready to go now, Co Malone said last night, and he probably be used quite a bit agai the Hinds outfit as a replacement James Aycock, Rayville boy, who s fered a minor knee injury Frid night.

Otherwise the squad, with the exception of hard injuries suffered Halfback Duncan Smith and F Scotty Diamond, emerged from Co-Ed scrap with nothing more t the general run of bruises.

Smith, whose passing game was h the result of his hand injury, ha been shifted to the blocking ba position this week if he is unable handle the ball effectively, and St Jay Passman, who usually runs fr the quarterback position, will me into the tailback spot.

The Hinds team will boast a hea one bigger than that used here Coach Lorenzo and indications a that the Tribe will be in for anoth hard fight.

BAINBRIDGE WINS AGAIN

ELMAN COMES FROM BEHIND TO BEAT ALGIERS, 13 TO 6

ttis Scores Touchdowns In Second And Fourth Periods To Pace Cyclones To Win Over Middie Eleven

The flying feet of "Dub" Mattis, former Tulane grid ace, d a staunch forward wall carried the Selman Field Cyclones victory over a hard fighting Algiers Naval Repair Base even here last night, 13 to 6, in a football thriller at Brown ld.

The Algiers Middies got off to a one-touchdown lead in e first quarter when Louis White scored from the Selman after drives through the local line from the Cyclone 45 t the ball in position for the touchdown plunge, but the clones braced to stop the invaders cold the rest of the way hile Mattis scored touchdowns in the second and last quarrs and also kicked the point after his initial goal-crossing.

t the start Algiers looked im- essive in a three-first-down march strictly line plays over center and ough guards and tackles, but the ddie touchdown roused the forrds from their opening coolness d they played bang-up ball the rest the way. Guard Ed Schumacher yed probably his best game of the r in stemming the attack through line, and Tackle Jim Cutrone, ard B. L. Crumpton, and End Otto hnellbacher turned in outstanding rformances.

Mattis, on the hospital list for alst a month, was back in uniform the first time since he sparked Cyclones in a 19-19 tie with Kees- Field here, and his job in the kfield saved the game from an ofnsive standpoint. His first touchwn was on a five-yard drive rough the middle, and his second me with less than two minutes left play when he got loose around ht end on a beautiful piece of fancy nning for 26 yards to paydirt.

Algiers disputed the first touchwn, claiming Mattis had not gone er when F. E. Messa, Middie back, abbed the ball as Mattis dropped it d charged back out to his own five owever, Mattis was over by about a rd when the confusing instance ocrred, and the touchdown was good.

Selman took the opening kickoff and ntsmanger was downed on his own Harris fumbled and Hank Aguisi recovered for the three-yard s. Harris then kicked out to Melin who was downed on the Cyclone

Selman was penalized five for lsides, and White cracked the midfor a first on the 35. White was ld for one over center but sliced rough right tackle for four. Melton two at the middle, and White ent over the same spot for a first the 16. G. E. Mullane got two at guard, and J. W. Bomer got seven rough the middle. Bomer hit the ddle again for a first on the Selnine, and then White cracked e middle for the touchdown. Bo- kick for the point was bad.

A 26-yard pass, Mattis to Schnell- set up the first Selman cene. Getting possession of the on the Algiers 49, Mattis hit the ne three times for a first on the 37. Lots fumbled and lost four. Then Cyclone are passed to Schnellcher who took the ball to the Mid- five. Mattis carried under for e, and kicked the point after

The third quarter was a punting duel, but the tide turned in Sel- favor when Clyde Flanders ed and got back to his own 9. Mattis kicked to the Algiers 21. Whites ripped off left tackle for 14. A fumble cost Algiers four. Mattis went around left end for a first on ne 2. The first judge then signaled wo minutes left to play, and Bobby ge, subbing for Mattis, took a shot Harris and sprinted around right nd for the final touchdown.

The Algiers eleven included two former Northeast Junior College of ball fame here this afternoon. L. S. U. players, Center Afton Cox and End V. L. Burns, both of whom were co-captains for the Middies and turned in a good brand of ball.

Not enough praise can be given the Selman line, however, for its play after the sluggish start that permitted the invaders three of their six first downs and their touchdown. While Schumacher, Cutrone, Crumpton and Schnellbacher were particularly noticeable in their performance the play of Julius Pall, Augsiewicz, Melvin Russell, Ralph D'Angelo, Ralph Whitman, Frank Hollondoner, and Melvin Delgado measured up to requirements.

The linesup:

ARKANSAS UPSETS RICE OWLS, 12-7

Second String Guard Scoops Up Fumble, Intercepts Pass For Hog Win

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Frank Lambright, an alert second string guard from Ashdown, Ark., stepped into the hero role today to lead the surprising Arkansas Razorbacks to a 12-7 upset win over the high flying Rice Owls.

The win, the second in many weekends over Southwest Conference opposition, knocked the Owls from the league lead, and kept Arkansas in the running for the title.

With the Porkers trailing 0 to 7 in the third quarter, Lambright broke through the Rice line, scooped up an Owl fumble and raced 38 yards for the first Arkansas touchdown. Later in the fourth quarter he broke up a Rice scoring threat by intercepting an Owl pass.

Arkansas scored both its touchdowns in the third quarter after Rice had counted on Buddy Russ' smash through left tackle from the one-yard line following a dazzling 86-yard broken field run by the Owls' highly-touted George Walmsley. Big Mike Schumchyk raced with Walmsley down the field and finally caught him just short of the goal. Lawrence converted.

Scrappy Lamar Dingler, Arkansas' first string end, set up the second Arkansas touchdown by blocking Russ' kick on the Rice 17 with the Razorbacks recovering. Little Louie Bayne went over from the six-inch line after a series of running plays.

Jim Young, whose extra point kicks brought Arkansas one-point victories over Missouri and the Texas Aggies, failed on both conversion attempts.

The fleet-footed Walmsley threatened all afternoon, getting away for several nice gains but always found a stubborn Razorback between him and the goal.

As was the case last Saturday when the Razorbacks upset the Texas Aggies Arkansas came out second best in yardage gained. Rice gained 286 yards on 12 long passes to 153 for Arkansas but the Porkers were more effective in the airways, completing four of 17 passes for 89 yards while Rice was completing two of seven for 13 yards.

A crowd of 7000 was among the largest at the Razorback stadium in many years. The game followed a parade and homecoming ceremonies.

TEXAS AGGIES TROUNCE S. M. U. BY 39-6 SCORE

DALLAS, Nov. 11.—(AP)—A highpowered offense that had been notoriously lacking in scoring punch all season today ran Texas A. and M. crosstown rival Southern Methodist 39-6 in the worst defeat handed the Mustangs in a conference game in 26 years.

The Aggies not only gave the ball just one time. It took them a touchdown. But they held it for the rest of the game and moved for more than 250 yards on the ground and in the air to smash the Mustangs down into the cellar position of the Southwest Conference.

It was the first time the passing combination of Clarence Hagood to Clarence Parmer clicked for a touchdown. Hagood to Parmer clicked for 25 yards. Hagood to Parmer clicked for 35 yards. Parmer clicked left end for 15 yards and a touchdown. Hagood to Parmer clicked for 25 sufficient forces to attempt to break out from this Yamashita line which is now enveloped by our troops on ground fronts.

"He has chosen western Leyte as a main battleground for his supreme effort to crush our liberating forces."

While the First United States cavalry spread out through rugged mountain flanks, the 24th division was fighting south of Pinamopoan along the Ormoc road. The Japanese are "resisting stubbornly" in this sector, the communique said.

Spearheads of the First cavalry have punched through ridge country east of Ormoc road and south Carigara bay to surround Mt. Pina and Mt. Badian. Fighting also was in progress near Mt. Cabungangan, eight miles southwest of Carigara.

The 96th division, battling westward from central Leyte valley near the east coast, overran a series of strong defensive Japanese positions skirting Patok, northwest of Dagami. Elements of the 96th are driving enemy remnants into adjacent foothills, but "heavy rains are impeding operations," the communique said.

American ground forces fought and hacked their way through jungles and over mountain trails, closing in on the port of Ormoc, Japanese base on the island's west coast.

The 24th division overcame roadblocks on the ridge road southward from Pinamopoan on the north coast, headquarters announced. Frontline reports said the Japanese were expending reinforcements here with bloody liberality, to delay as long as possible the final fight for Ormoc.

First cavalry division units advanced five miles south and west of Carigara, another north coast town. But the elements of the 96th division moving on Ormoc from the east met strong opposition in the hills southwest of Potak.

The Fifth air force meanwhile kept an alert watch against more Japanese attempts to land fresh troops on Leyte, such as were put ashore Thursday to further fatten the 35th army.

The enemy is throwing replacements into the defense of Ormoc without regard to cost, cutting into the 45,000 men which American headquarters spokesmen have estimated as the strength of the Japanese on the island.

In the 24th division area the fighting is mindful of Guadalcanal in the enemy's expenditure of troops, said Fred Hampson, Associated Press correspondent with that division.

The Japanese apparently intend to reinforce at all costs, just so long as they can delay the consolidation of American forces nearer to Ormoc, Hampson said.

Maj. Gen. Fred Irving, commander of the division, said the Ormoc-Pinamopoan corridor is sure to be a death trap for the Japanese.

The enemy landings of perhaps 10,000 more soldiers Thursday was successful in that the added troops made their Ormoc garrison as strong or stronger than it was when MacArthur's forces landed on Leyte October 20, but the Japanese may wonder if it was worth the cost.

Three of the four transports in the enemy convoy and six of 14 escorting destroyers were sunk by Mitchell bombers and Lightning fighters equipped with 1,000-pound bombs for dive bombing. A navy PT boat sank another destroyer.

The Yank fliers knocked at least 16 planes out of the convoy air cover, while losing four bombers and four fighters in the battle which lasted most of Friday and ended with the surviving enemy vessels fleeing Ormoc bay.

MacArthur announced yesterday that American bombers scored direct hits on a troop laden transport off Mindoro Island northwest of Leyte, leaving the vessel dead in the water and burning. The vessel may have had another consignment of troops of Leyte.

Londoners went quietly about their job of helping to win today's war. The royal family remained in mourning for the death of the queen's father, the Earl of Strathmore.

An equerry laid a wreath of poppies at the foot of the cenotaph, where blind veterans of both wars placed flowers on the memorial. Veterans of other wars mounted guard over the tomb of unknown soldier in Westminster Abbey.

Richard Law, told members of state, told Britons in an Armistice day message that life was not going to be easy for them.

"There is much to be done," he said. "If this time we think more of what is to be done and less of what is to be got we shall be able to discharge the debt we owe."

on the council immediately if and when the world organization is set up.

But the initial consequences of adding France to the European advisory commission are more military than political and they raise several issues with respect to the conclusion of the war against Germany.

The commission is a sort of clearing and planning agency for the Allied powers. It has no authority to make any decisions.

Some time ago the commission asked all the smaller Allied countries of Europe, and also France to submit their ideas for handling Germany. All did except France. De Gaulle sent word that he would not put in French ideas unless France also could help make the decisions.

Already, however, the commission had worked out and Moscow, Washington and London had approved a set of terms to be imposed after Germany's surrender. The commission also had worked out and obtained approval for a three-war-split plan for occupying Germany.

Russia would occupy the eastern third, the British the northwestern portion, and American troops the southwestern section. The whole administration would be under an Allied military commission in Berlin.

Beyond that period of military occupation decisions still have to be made on long range policies for control and pacification.

Many diplomatic officials were startled to read in the announcement of France's new position that "among the maters which are receiving close attention of the commission is the question of the surrender terms to be imposed on Germany and the treatment to be accorded that country."

This appeared to mean that every issue of German control, beginning with the surrender terms, will be brought up for review in order to give the French opportunity to express their opinions. Their opinions are very strong as to the role France should play.

As long ago as last July General De Gaulle told a Washington news conference that he believed and "all the world believes" that the French army must occupy the Rhineland. Just after his government got diplomatic recognition he said that French troops will occupy such territories as they conquer and that it was inconceivable that Germany could be occupied without French participation.

VISIT TO PARIS IS MADE BY CHURCHILL

LONDON, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill today poured the cement for a British-French post-war alliance upon which he hopes to build a western European bloc of states pledged to mutual aid and economic cooperation.

In a dramatic gesture of good fellowship, Britain's first citizen carried to Paris, newly-pulsing heart of a liberated land, his assurance that France will realize the hope for which she struggled in years of Nazi domination —a return to the world's high councils.

Churchill undoubtedly discussed the American-British-Soviet invitation to France to assume full membership on the European advisory commission, announced jointly in Washington and London today. Among other matters, this committee is working on terms for French-German territorial claims.

London believes that steps to speed France's return to the world council tables occupied Churchill's first attention in his conversations with Gen. de Gaulle, for the prime minister has long emphasized that it is in Britain's interest to see erected a "strong, independent friendly France."

Along that line, it was understood that problems surrounding the task of rearming French military forces would form part of the move to back up this country which once had the world's largest army.

This objective, increasing in importance as the chances of victory over Germany this year diminish, raised the likelihood that French forces will be given increased responsibility on the western front next year, and improved the possibility of their use in Germany's occupation.

But it was obvious that discussion of the immediate military future of France could not be separated from her diplomatic aspirations, making it almost inevitable that Churchill and de Gaulle talked over the French position as regards the imminent "big three" conference.

Whether the tri-power conference would be widened at this stage remained uncertain, but the Paris discussions at least will provide Churchill with the French position on Europe's problems to carry into his next meeting with President Roosevelt and Marshal Stalin.

The conversation between Churchill, de Gaulle and their advisors may also pave the way for resumption of the war-interrupted interdependent economic relations between the two countries—an aspect of foreign relations which Churchill always has weighed carefully.

So too, has Churchill long been convinced that France and Britain must stick together for their self-interests.

"It's now nearly 40 years since I first become convinced that the fortunes of Great Britain and France were interwoven, and that their military forces must be combined in the most effective manner by alliance and agreement and claims," he told Commons September 29.

France and Britain must maintain and strengthen "closest friendship and mutual understanding of common interests, both political and economic," concurred the newspaper "Parisian Libere" in a featured editorial today.

to Budapest, said formed a pincer without offensive aimed at encircling the capital on the Danube.

In the northeast other units of Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukraine army widened their grip on the Budapest-Miskolc railway and also cut the highway between the two cities with the capture of Szihalom, 64 miles northeast of the capital.

At the top end of the middle Tisza front the Russians rolled through Hejosalonita, 11 miles southeast of Miskolc, and also took Sajoszeged 12 miles from their objective. These troops were moving on Miskolc along the west bank of the Sajo river, a tributary of the Tisza.

Marshal Tito's headquarters announced another important development in the south where Russian and Yugoslav troops crossed the Danube river on a 37-mile front between Baja and Apatin in a drive on the large strategic Hungarian city of Pecs, 24 miles west of Baja and 99 miles southwest of Budapest.

Baja, in southern Hungary, is 84 miles below besieged Budapest, and Apatin is in northern Yugoslavia.

Meanwhile the Ankara radio broadcasting a report from the Turkish news agency's correspondent inside Budapest, said there was "continued pitched street fighting" in Pest, the part of the capital on the east bank of the Danube.

The Budapest correspondent said the sound of artillery "coming from the eastern and southeastern suburbs" could be heard in the heart of the capital "which is rapidly being evacuated."

The German military commentator, Col. Ernst Von Hammer, said that the new Russian drive on Budapest was launched north of the Danube rail line between Russian-held Cegled and Szolnok, and apparently was aimed both at Budapest and toward a juncture with other Soviet forces that had crossed the middle Tisza river, cut the Budapest-Miskolc railway connecting Budapest with eastern Slovakia, and threatened Budapest from the east and northeast.

Von Hammer said the Russians "were stemmed and forced to bring up reserves" after initial gains.

In addition, the German commentator, Lt. Col. Alfred Ollenz, reported that Gen. Ivan Petrov's Fourth Ukraine army, fighting in eastern Czechoslovakia, "plans to advance on Budapest from Slovakia."

Ollenz said that Petrov's forces, attacking despite torrential rains and snow in the eastern Beskids mountains, had scored a breakthrough toward the Slovak frontier adjoining Poland.

Ollenz did not name the specific area but the German high command said the attack were resumed west of Lupkow and Dukla passes. Petrov's troops already are inside eastern Slovakia, west of Uzgorod, conquered Ruthenian capital, and several weeks ago drove through Lupkow pass into Slovakia.

In Switzerland the Basler Nachrichten reported that the Hungarian gold reserve of 80,000,000 pengos had been transferred from Budapest to Germany, and that some of the most important factory installations also had been removed, including those of the Manfred-Weiss plant, biggest arms works in Hungary located on Csepel Island in the Danube just south of Budapest.

Budapest itself has been transformed into an immense fortress, the newspaper said.

teau-Salins forest. Planes combined with ground forces to inflict severe losses on the enemy.

Third army headquarters reported 57 pieces of field artillery and antiaircraft guns were knocked out or captured in the forest and on a nearby ridge. Ninth air force fighter bomber pilots claimed destruction of 75 trucks, 55 horse-drawn artillery pieces and 11 gun positions.

On the left hinge of the swing around Metz from the southeast, the Fifth infantry division thrust north to a point five miles south of Metz. North of the fortress city, the 95th division captured Brieux-Chateau, one mile southeast of Maizieres-Les-Metz. A front dispatch said these forces were only four and one-half miles from Metz.

Meanwhile the 90th division strengthened its three-by-six-mile bridgehead over the Moselle river in the Koenigsmacher area by eliminating the German salient jutting into it at the middle.

TANKS AND INFANTRY DRIVE 5 MILES DEEPER

WITH THE U. S. THIRD ARMY IN FRANCE, Nov. 11.—(AP)—American tanks and infantry slashed five miles deeper into the defenses of Metz today, fighting up to the Nied river nine miles east and slightly south of the Fortress and breaking across the stream at one point.

While German resistance stiffened, gains of five and seven miles were racked up on this Armistice day—the fourth day of a drive which might well develop into the last great push on the western front.

Lt. Gen. George S. Patton Jr., had split the German defenders south of the port-ringed city and had tanks marauding 18 miles from the Saar border near Saarbrucken, where they had cut one of Metz's rail lines by which it is supplied from the east.

Although there was no Armistice on any section of the 450-mile front, the only other major activity reported was on the United States First army sector, where the doughboys still were slugging it out with the Germans in the Stolberg corridor southeast of Aachen in Hurtgen forest.

A German high command spokesman said Patton "is now engaged about two-thirds of his tank forces on the right wing" and that their "progress is notable."

German forces cut off from their comrades south of Metz were falling back on the city and the Fifth infantry was fanning down on Pont-a-Mousson, only seven miles from the citadel.

These forces were but about 14 miles away from the 90th division which edged forward slightly from miles north of Metz despite the stiffening of their positions west of the Moselle river.

The Sixth armored division with tank columns under the Nancy-Thionville highway N of 14 miles southeast of Metz, reached the edge of Leyvaux and entered the city of Leyvaux, one of the nearby village of Arbre 12 miles southeast of the Luxembourg-Metz-Thionville railroad. The Sixth armored division was fighting on about the same front as Gen. Patton's Third army, which is driving from the south where Russian and Yugoslav troops crossed the Danube river on a 37-mile front between Baja and Apatin in a drive on the large strategic Hungarian city of Pecs, 24 miles west of Baja and 99 miles southwest of Budapest.

PRESIDENT'S

some majorities of Republicans in the state Senate and assembly.

A number of New York governors, including Franklin D. Roosevelt, succeeded where Dewey failed, this year in moving from the executive mansion in Albany to the one in Washington.

The Democrats have a different outlook. A fourth term naturally gives rise to speculation about a fifth. But four years from now Mr. Roosevelt will be nearly 67 with sixteen tough years in the White House behind him.

For eight of those sixteen years he has said his personal preference overruled by demands of his country was to give up public life and go back home to the Hudson valley.

Yet he has brought along no one who might serve as a logical heir to the Democratic presidential nomination. Whether he will groom somebody during term number four will be determined later.

Republican campaigners injected into the 1944 race the suggestion that the president might not survive his next term. In such an event Vice-President-Elect Harry S. Truman would take over and then be in a commanding position for the party nomination in 1948.

Some politicians have an idea that Henry A. Wallace the man Truman replaces in the correspondence, may be a factor four years from now. Wallace, instead of stepping out of the political scene went to bat strongly for the Democratic ticket.

There has been much speculation that the former agriculture secretary might receive another high position in the executive branch of the government, a position in which his name would remain before the public.

It was Wallace, moreover, whom the president had said he would support for the vice-presidency had he been voting at the Democratic convention this year.

A possible Democratic darkhorse might be Frank J. Lausche the Cleveland mayor, who won the Ohio governorship while Roosevelt was dropping the state to Dewey.

On the Republican side, John W. Bricker again might be in the running against Dewey as he was this year. He served three terms as Ohio's governor and his chances might depend on the prominence he may retain now that he has gone down to defeat as the G. O. P. vice-presidential candidate.

Other possibilities to be reckoned with are Lt. Com. Harold E. Stasser, Minnesota's former governor, and Governors Earl Warren of California and Dwight Griswold of Nebraska.

Not to be overlooked, either, is the possibility that a senator of either party might attain sufficient stature in the next few years to obtain a presidential nomination.

Mr. Douglas is survived by his wife Mrs. Dora Oxford Douglas and one son, John Hardwick Douglas both of Monroe; his mother, Mrs. Carrie L. Douglas of Dubach, and two brothers, Rev. L. E. Douglas pastor of the Herndon Memorial Methodist Church Sulphur, La., and Jack W. Douglas, United States navy, stationed at Brooklyn, N. Y.

Funeral services will be held at the First Christian Church with Rev. B. T. Watson officiating but the time of services has not been announced pending arrival of a brother. The body will be in state at the Davis-Lockhead Funeral Home.

Pallbearers will be J. R. Wade, Ned Leigh, Henry Haas, A. P. Kitchens, Henry Hartman, B. S. McRaney, H. C. Hughes, B. L. Mulhearn and honorary pallbearers will be friends of the family.

Interment will be under the direction of the Davis-Lockhead Funeral Home.

2—Cards of Thanks

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this means to express our heartfelt thanks and appreciation to our many friends, relatives and neighbors for their many acts of kindness, messages of sympathy, floral tributes and beautiful floral offerings received at the death of our beloved husband, father and brother, Dominic Panzico.

We especially want to thank Reverends Father Ansem, Father Hubley, Father Cullen and Father Manfred for their services and the Hall Funeral Home for their many kindnesses and courtesies extended us.

MARRIAGES DROP AFTER 4 YEARS

Likely To Decline Still Further Until After War Ends

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Wedding bells rang overtime in the last four years.

But with millions of young bachelors now overseas, marriages are declining. Next year the marriage rate is expected to be below normal, and it probably will stay there until most of our troops are back.

That's the picture given today by the Census Bureau. Here are the figures:

From 1940 through 1943, there were 6,579,000 marriages.

On the basis of the average rate for the 20 years before 1940, the normal number would have been 5,461,000.

That made a "surplus" of 1,118,000. The Census Bureau says it was caused by:

1. Better economic conditions.
2. War-time phychology.

The marriage rate for 1942 was the highest on record, 13.1 marriages per 1,000 population. There were 1,758,000 marriages in that year.

In 1943 and 1944, marriages have fallen off but it's only surprising that they haven't fallen faster. In 1942 there were 1,577,000 marriages. If the rest of 1944 is like the first eight months, there will be 1,445,000 this year.

After World War I there was a great marriage boom in 1920.

There should be another boom after World War II, the Bureau says, but there are some differences. Since we've had more war-time marriages this time, and have built up a "surplus," we will have a smaller backlog of single people.

Also the boom may be divided into two parts, the first after the end of European war and the second when the Pacific phase is over.

CHILD WELFARE GROUP TO MEET

Clothing And Supplies Have Been Received From Many Donors

The Child Welfare Council will meet at the Frances Hotel on Tuesday evening, November 14, at 8 p. m. All members and persons who are interested in the child welfare of this community are urged to be present.

One of the projects of this council has been to secure clothing and supplies for the "Child Care Program" of this parish. Mrs. D. M. Nicol, chairman of the social service committee, is in charge of this project.

Mrs. Nicol states that the response to the calls made through publicity and requests has been excellent, that the following have been donors: Mrs. Bohosky of West Monroe contributed a play pen and clothing; Mrs. R. C. Lantrip, Mrs. Reed of West Monroe and Mrs. Rebecca Kahn of Monroe, have contributed baby beds; Mrs. Carey Phillips, Mrs. C. E. Faulk, Mrs J. U. Liner, all of West Monroe, and Mrs. Clive Parker, Mrs. William Rodriquez, Mrs. Mae Miles, Mrs. F. L. Jones, Mrs. Eula Mitchell, all of Monroe, have contributed clothing; the Warner Memorial Class is contributing layettes; the Junior Charity League is contributing $35 monthly for six months for the care of a child in a foster home; the Salvation Army has reconditioned baby beds in need of repair; the City of West Monroe, through the courtesy of its mayor, D. C. Golson, furnished transportation to pick up baby beds which had been contributed. Mrs. Nicol states further: "Any interested club or persons are invited to assist in this social service program. At present time there is need of a mattress for one of the baby beds, and funds for making over three mattresses. Any assistance will be appreciated."

KENNY WARD HELPS STAMP OUT INFANTILE PARALYSIS

Establishment Under Harrison Regime Shows Remarkable Results

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another of a series of articles on conditions at Louisiana's institutions. Facts contained herein were obtained on a tour of several institutions shortly before Claude Harrison, of Monroe, resigned as director of institutions.)

By George V. Lofton

Dread "polio" is still largely a puzzle to medical science, but the establishment of the Kenny Ward of Charity Hospital in New Orleans in 1943 has contributed greatly to the decrease in the death rate from infantile paralysis in the state of Louisiana.

The Kenny Ward was established several months after Claude Harrison assumed the directorship of the state's institutions, and is operated jointly by the State Board of Health and the Department of Institutions, which, of course, has supervision of the Charity Hospital. Its director is Dr. Branch Aymond, chief of the Crippled Children's Service for the State Board of Health.

The Kenny Ward derives its name from the Catholic Sister who pioneered the method of treatment which is used in the ward. This method has proved most successful.

There are now approximately 60 patients being treated in the New Orleans ward, and 125 cases have been treated since its establishment a little over a year and a half ago. Of this number, only three have been lost, and two of these cases were in an advanced stage when they reached the hospital.

The treatment consists primarily of applying hot packs upon the patients —large packs of pure wool which are heated to a temperature which would be unbearable to anyone who was not paralyzed. The woolen packs are applied to the arms and legs, and bound tightly by rubber "bandages." The rubber pads are wound around the packs to secure them firmly upon the affected parts of the body.

In some extreme cases, the patients, all of whom were children when we visited the ward, are immersed in hot water. The treatment is almost miraculous. We saw children who could hardly move a muscle before treatment, get up out of their beds and take a few steps after they had been treated. This daily routine has resulted in the positive cure of many who have been afflicted.

Dr. Aymond says that immediate treatment is one secret of the success being achieved at the Kenny Ward. Persons who show symptoms of poliomyelitis should be taken to a physician at once, and if the diagnosis is positive, they should be rushed to the Kenny Ward. When the ward was established, Mr. Harrison issued an order that Charity Hospital ambulances must be made available to take infantile paralysis cases to New Orleans immediately, regardless of the ability of parents to pay for private ambulances, which in many instances would not be available. In other emergencies, persons able to pay for private ambulance service may not use Charity Hospital ambulances.

Dr. Aymond has made an exhaustive study of the causes of infantile paralysis. He has made photographs of sources of pollution where cases of the disease have appeared. His slides show that in one instance pollution had dripped into a broken water line which leads to an ice plant, in another, children had been swimming in a shallow stream in which a dead dog had been thrown, again, open sewers pour into the source of a city's water supply. It isn't a very pleasant picture, but it emphasizes the danger of inadequate sanitary facilities for any community.

Many adults are said to have had infantile paralysis and never knew it. Scientists say adults may have had so many small doses that they are immune. Hence, poliomyelitis is called "infantile paralysis" because it usually strikes only children. And only in the Kenny Ward of Charity Hospital in New Orleans are adequate personnel and equipment for treating infantile paralysis victims available. That is not our opinion—it was voiced by Dr. Max Derbes, president of the Orleans Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, at a recent meeting of medical, public health and hospital officials.

Little is known about polio, according to Dr. Don W. Gudakunst, medical director of the National Foundation in Washington. No one as yet knows how the filterable virus, too small to be seen even under a powerful microscope, enters the human body. There is no means of prevention or cure, only palliative treatment, no positive knowledge of how the disease is spread. Although research is going on constantly in scores of laboratories, hospitals and universities, the problem remains unsolved.

While research is a long way from its goal, more has been learned about polio in the last 10 years than the previous 100. It is problematic whether it is carried in food or milk, by flies or mosquitoes, but it has been demonstrated that healthy persons can carry the virus without developing any symptoms of illness.

Dr. Aymond has adopted a well-rounded plan to keep the children in the Kenny Ward happy. Books and toys are provided for their entertainment, and on special occasions the "name bands" and floor shows appearing at the Roosevelt Hotel and other spots in New Orleans have given shows for the patients.

Here again, however, we found that funds are needed for improvements in one of our state institutions—one which certainly should merit the sympathy of all of our state officials. The Kenny Ward is located at the rear of the Charity Hospital, in a building which is not new and not modern. It is reached by a dingy flight of stairs or an elevator, which ordinarily is used to take the patients to the second floor, where the main ward is located. They have borrowed equipment here and there from other state institutions, and they're doing an excellent job with what they have to work with, but it is far from adequate.

The state owes its thanks to the Department of Institutions, the State Board of Health and to Dr. Aymond and his staff, but it also owes an obligation to those persons who are and may become afflicted with infantile paralysis to see that these facilities are expanded.

B. S. HAMNER IS P.-T. A. GUEST

Discusses Delinquency And Literature At Meeting At Central Grammar

B. S. Hammer, instructor in Northeast Junior College, addressed the Central Grammar P.-T. A. Wednesday afternoon on the general subject of "Reading and Delinquency." The address was in connection with Education week which was being observed nation-wide.

He stated that reading has a great bearing on the actions of youth of today. Fiction reading should disclose facts but that there also should be reading as an aid to livelihood and a delight in reading. Reading, he stated, is the ennobling of one's life and Goethe said that we learn from what we love. By good reading, we can learn, the speaker said, to grapple with life.

"To the youth there is a brave new world in the world of good literature. Children revel in 'Alice in Wonderland,' 'Black Beauty' and other such tales.

"Adolescent reading has declined. This is evidenced in the disagreement for authority and minor infractions of rules, the war of today and the insistent clamor and the loss of more important values. Leisure time should be used in the reading of great books. Reading is drawing to one's own sphere much of the lifework of the great. All the arts educate the emotions. Reading is of importance as it serves to permit the adolescent to select heroes from fiction and there is an abundance of material. Books offer relief from the pressing cares of the day. Boys and girls, with properly directed reading, will stand to gain greatly. Great books serve to reduce delinquency of youth today."

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Frank Patterson. The group rose and gave the pledge to the flag and sang the national anthem.

Mrs. Elmer Slagle announced that the National League of Women Voters will have a guest, Mrs. Dingman, who will discuss world peace December 6 at 8 p. m. Mrs. Slagle urged large attendance at this important meeting.

Miss Jane Borsh, blind from birth, played Debussy's "Claire de Lune."

Reports were read and approved. Mrs. J. Bishop Johnston's room, of the third grade, had the largest attendance of mothers.

YES, WILLOW, THE BALL IS OVER... BIG JANE AND LITTLE JANE GO BACK TO THE WARS! THE FURLOUGH, SHE IS FINISH!

OH, DEAR, YOU TWO HAVE BEEN SO NICE TO ME DURING THIS WAIT FOR MY IDENTIFICATION PAPERS TO BE DRAWN UP... WHAT SHALL I DO WITHOUT YOU?

WITH THAT MONEY YOUR UNCLE SENT YOU FROM THE UNITED STATES —AND THAT NICE LIEUT. TERRY LEE ON THE ARM, YOU THINK YOU'VE GOT TROUBLES?

YOUR FRIENDS CAPTAIN TUMBLIN AND LIEUT. CHARLES, WERE VERY SWEET TO US! IF WE SEE THEM BACK AT THE BASE, WE'LL BE WAC SERGEANT ALLEN AND CORPORAL McGILLICUDY—AND NO NONSENSE! LA GUERRE SOMETIMES GETS IN YOUR HAIR...

YOU KNOW... I'M TOO YOUNG TO JOIN THE WAC—BUT THERE IS SOMETHING I'VE BEEN DYING...TO ASK..

...WOULD YOU LET ME TRY ON ONE OF YOUR UNIFORMS BEFORE YOU GO?

SURE, WILLOW—THAT WILL BE FUN..YOU'LL MAKE QUITE A GEE-EYEFUL!

UP WITH THE HAIR, SOLDIER! IF THE TOP SERGEANT SAW THAT WIG DOWN OVER YOUR COLLAR, SHE'D BREAK YOU TO A CIVILIAN!

I HAVE AN UNHAPPY FEELING THE COLONEL WOULD RATHER SEE THAT SERGEANT COME BACK AS HIS SECRETARY THAN OLD BEAT-UP ME!

OH, JANE, HOW YOU TALK!

YOU MAKE A NEAT ROOKIE, COOKIE... I WISH WE HAD YOU IN OUR OUTFIT...

IT WOULD BE WONDERFUL! I-I HAVE A LITTLE GOING AWAY PRESENT FOR EACH OF YOU... I'LL RUN TO MY ROOM AND GET THEM-WON'T BE A MINUTE...

THEY DO LOOK WELL WITH THE WAC UNIFORM... I HOPE THE GIRLS LIKE THEM...

SHE CAME FROM ROOM 8—AND HAS THE PROPER CHEVRONS... AND THE NAME JANE ALLEN ON THE IDENTIFICATION BRACELET MAKES IT A CERTAINTY!... HASTEN-BEFORE AN ALARM OCCURS!

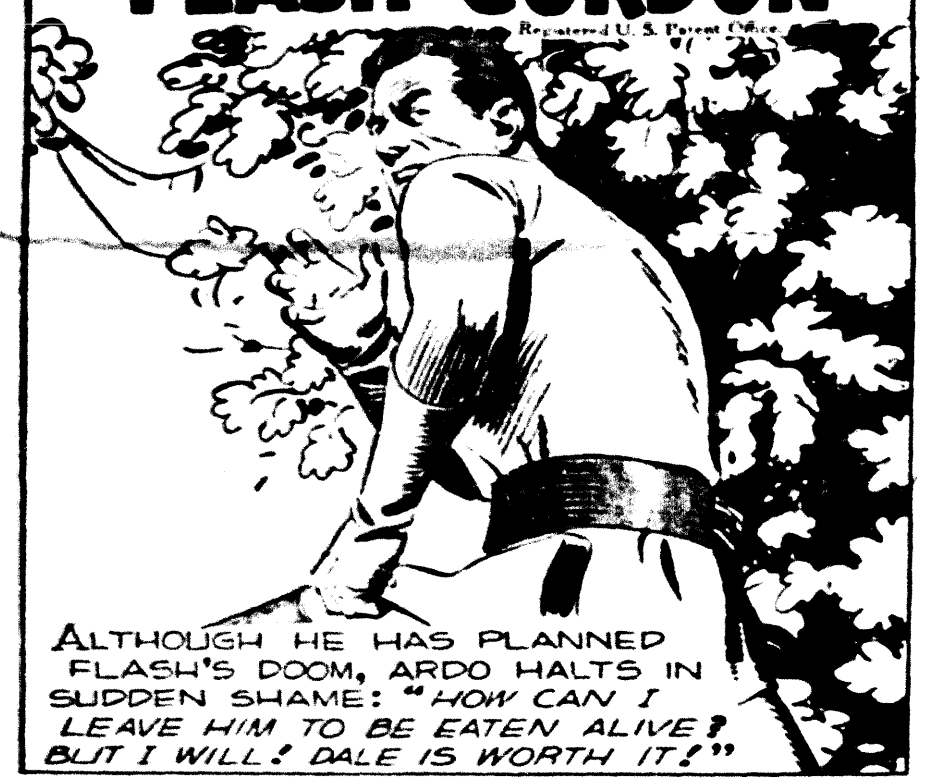
FLASH GORDON

Registered U. S. Patent Office



ALTHOUGH HE HAS PLANNED FLASH'S DOOM, ARDO HALTS IN SUDDEN SHAME: "HOW CAN I LEAVE HIM TO BE EATEN ALIVE? BUT I WILL! DALE IS WORTH IT!"

WITH RODENT CUNNING, THE GIANT RAT, SUSPICIOUS OF A TRICK, NIPS AT FLASH'S FEET TO SEE IF HE'S REALLY UNCONSCIOUS.

THE SHARP TOUCH OF DANGER ROUSES FLASH FROM THE STUNNING EFFECTS OF ARDO'S TREACHEROUS BLOW. HE INSTINCTIVELY PRESSES FORWARD TO ATTACK HIS FOE.

INSTANTLY GRASPING THE SITUATION, FLASH SEIZES THE ONE CHANCE OF VICTORY. HE SPRINGS WITH SINEWY LEGS TO BREAK THE JAW OF THE RAT.
